". . . . the kind of banking service exporters appreciate . . . ."

This is how the facilities of Canada's oldest bank are regarded by thousands of business men engaged in foreign trade.

These facilities — given effect through over 500 branches in Canada and Newfoundland, through offices in the financial centres of Great Britain and the United States, as well as through a chain of correspondents encircling the globe — are backed by the experience of 118 years of useful banking.

Some of the ways the Bank renders useful service to Canadians engaged in exporting: Purchases of bills of exchange representing exports; providing commercial credits for purchases abroad; purchase and sale of exchange "futures" for protection against price fluctuations in foreign currencies; speeding transactions by special wire connections with the important exchange markets; reports on character and financial standing of foreign firms; commercial and savings deposit accounts.

Introduction

TWELFTH ANNUAL EDITION

THE primary object of the publishers of the Canadian Trade Index is to provide buyers in Canada and abroad with an authoritative directory of products manufactured in Canada and the names of the firms making them. The book includes a complete and up to date list of all Canadian manufacturers having more than a local distribution for their products.

Distinctive features of this edition are the inclusion of an Export Section provided by the Department of Trade and Commerce dealing with the facilities of the Government Commercial Intelligence Service—export costs, financing, methods, procedure and statistics, as well as a directory of producers, shippers and exporters of Agricultural Produce and allied lines.

As this book is in constant use by government departments, purchasing agents of manufacturers, railways, municipalities and public utility corporations, it is of vital importance that every manufacturer should carefully revise the listings forwarded to the Association each year and report alterations, additions and corrections from time to time.

Owing to the detailed classification of the Index prospective purchasers are generally in a position to get in direct contact with manufacturers of the goods desired, but where information regarding specialized lines is required the gratuitous service of the Commercial Intelligence Department of the Association is offered.

The publishers wish to thank all organizations, government departments and manufacturers who have aided by furnishing the information upon which the book is based.

Mathews Conveyer Systems

Conveying has become a science, for no piece of equipment can be taken down from "off the shelf" with the assurance that it will fit any particular job. For that reason, Mathews has specialized in the design and construction of complete systems—most of them consisting of varied types of conveyers—to meet the handling requirements of the plants in which they are installed.

Some of the units that go to make up a complete system are briefly described here. More detailed descriptions and many special units are shown in the Mathews Catalog which will be sent on request.

Mathews Gravity Roller Conveyers

Rollers, bearings, frame rails and supports for Mathews Gravity Roller Conveyer are built in a wide variety of sizes and types for loads ranging from 20 to 5000 lbs. per roller.

Some are of special construction for use where moisture proof, acid-resistant or high temperature equipment is required.

Mathews Belt Conveyers

The construction of Mathews Belt Conveyers provides for standard roller conveyer units under the load surface of the belt, or where the product to be handled requires sheet metal or wood slider board.

Mathews Trolley Conveyers

Trolley wheels of pressed steel and cast iron; chains of malleable iron and drop forged steel; numerous supports, brackets, and hooks make Mathews Trolley Conveyers adaptable to almost any overhead conveying requirements.

Mathews Chain Elevators

For the automatic lifting and lowering of materials, Mathews has designed a number of chain elevators that are now being used in scores of different industries. These units are described in detail in the Mathews Catalog.

Mathews Chain Conveyers

Both malleable and steel chains are used in Mathews Chain Conveyers, which have a distinct field of application and are adaptable for use where resistance to high temperature, water, abrasion and the ability to convey goods on steep inclines is required. The Pallet Conveyer, with its moving bed of metal or wood, has the widest usage of the conveyers in this group.

Mathews Sheet Metal Spiral Chutes

Sheet metal of various gauges, according to the purpose to which the equipment is to be put, is used in Mathews Spiral Chutes. These chutes are built to fit the particular plants where installation is to be made. They are used for fire escapes as well as material handling.

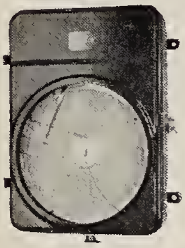
Gauges for Pressure, Vacuum and Liquid Level



Recording Gauge Model 40M

For securing continuous records of pressure or vacuum. For steam, air, gas and liquids. Charts furnished to read in pounds, ounces, feet, inches, metric, or any desired unit. For ranges from full vacuum to 12,000 pounds per square inch.

Recording and Indicating Thermometers

For all commercial ranges from —60° to +1000° F. Furnished with plain bulbs for use in open spaces such as dry kilns, etc. Bulbs with union and screw connections are supplied for recording temperatures of liquids in closed spaces under pressure, such as boiler feed water, superheated steam, milk pasteurizers, etc.

Air Operated Control

Diaphragm operated Synchro Valve

Bristol's Air Operated Free Vane Recorder Controller gives precisely the control which the temperature record indicates. Controller action is full floating. Under the influence of temperature fluctuations the Free Vane device utilized for effecting control actually floats from one position to another. It does no mechanical work. Temperature indications are accurate.

Bristol's Air-Operated Process Time Cycle Controller automatically regulates the mechanical operation in recurring process cycles on an exact time schedule.

Electric Operated Control

For automatically controlling temperatures to 3000° F. in connection with gas, oil or electrically heated ovens, furnaces, kilns, etc.

Motor Operated Control Valves available for gas, oil, steam, water; also relays, switches, etc., for electric heat.

Thermometer Thermostat Controller, available for temperatures to 1000° F. Thermo-Electric Pyrometer Type of instrument used for ranges up to 3000° F.

Flow Meter for Steam, Liquids and Gases

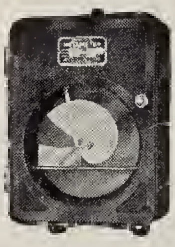
Flow Meter, Model 1140 MF

Employing the widely accepted orifice and mercury manometer system of flow measurement, this Bristol's meets the needs of industry for a rugged, accurate and reasonably-priced mechanical flow meter. Even under severe field conditions it can be counted on to give precision measurement.

The meter body is of forged steel, with stainless steel parts inside the mercury chambers. All connections are welded or mechanical. The stuffing box is of hardened stainless steel. Grease-packed, it is absolutely leak-tight.

Check valves, operating by gravity, prevent the loss of mercury. A bushing, inserted in the line between the two chambers, dampens the effects of pulsations. Meters for working pressures of 1000 lb. are tested at 2000 lb. Special bodies are available for working pressures up to 3000 lb.

Metameter Long Distance Transmitting and Recording System



Metameter Transmitter Model M35T

For telemetering pressure, liquid level, temperature, motion. Twelve-inch chart records instantly every fluctuation in pressure, temperature or level occurring a few feet or several miles away. Simple two wire circuit or existing telephone line.

Wide-Strip Potentiometer

Self - standardizing, self - balancing, self - compensating, Bristol's Wide-Strip Potentiometer responds promptly to the slightest temperature changes. Duplex slide series mounted integrally with recording pen, insure perfect control and greater precision. Furnished in single record, multiple record, and recorder controller models for wall, switchboard or table mounting.

WHAT IS LUBRICATION COSTING YOU?

"Price-per-gallon!" — that's only part of the cost of lubricating an industrial plant!

Hidden away — perhaps swelling other operating expenses — may be any or all of the following losses caused by improper lubrication:

1. Wasteful consumption of lubricants.
2. Time and production losses caused by avoidable breakdowns.
3. Repair bills for damaged machines.
4. Too rapid depreciation of equipment.
5. Power waste.

Quality lubricants are the most economical, when figured on a cost-per-year basis, and they are doubly economical in reducing indirect losses in plant operation.

Imperial Industrial Lubricants are specially processed to meet the exact requirements of the machines and equipment for which they are scientifically recommended. They are promoting economy and efficiency in most Canadian industries. It will be worth your while to let us show you how these better oils and greases can save you money, too. Write to your nearest Imperial Oil branch office.

SAVINGS YOU MAKE THROUGH PROPER LUBRICATION WITH IMPERIAL PRODUCTS

1. Lowered cost of lubricants.
2. Increased power.
3. Minimum production delays.
4. Minimum repair costs.
5. Less depreciation.

Speed Reducers

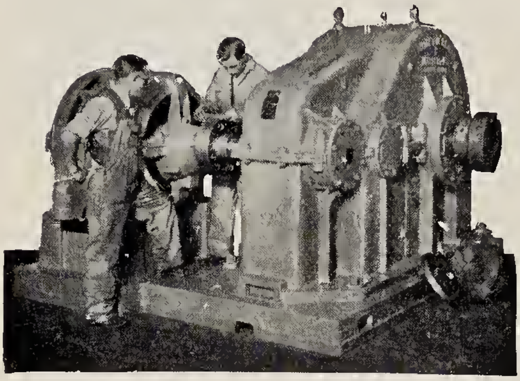
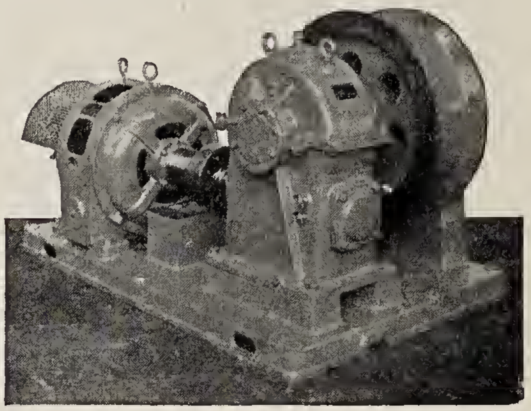
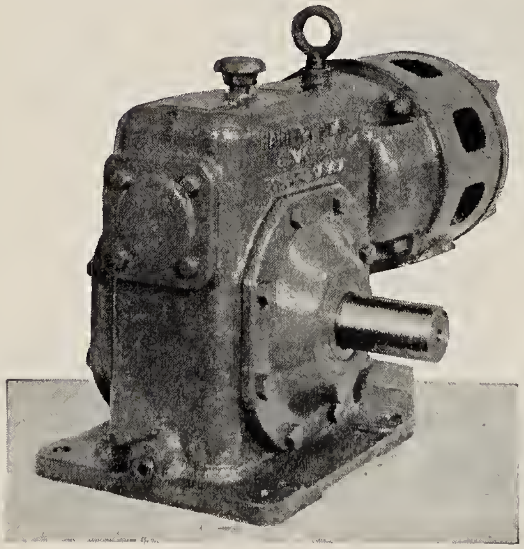
Used wherever High Speed Power is applied to Low Speed Use

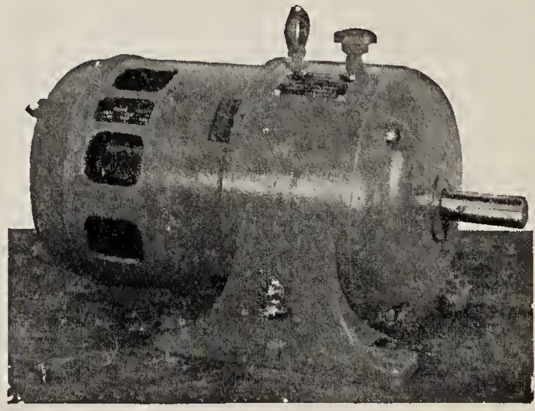
Worm gear and helical gear units, in single and multiple reduction, are made in a wide range of sizes. Send for catalogue on either of these types, listing standard sizes, with power capacities and detail specifications. These are high grade, heavy duty gear drives, designed and rated for 24-hour continuous service. Ratios are available up to six thousand to one in simple, efficient, self-contained units.

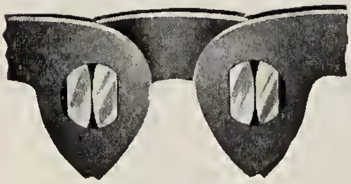




Integral motorized speed reducers and increasers, built as one self-contained unit, are made in a full range of sizes, in both worm gear and helical gear forms, in single and multiple reduction, to give almost any desired final speed. This construction offers many advantages in freedom of arrangement. For example, the slow shaft may be vertical or at any angle. Due to eliminating the bedplate and motor coupling, the total cost is favorable.







The Compensating Joint

Silent Chain Drives

The Hamilton-Ramsey silent chain (made in Canada) will operate at higher speeds and run smoother and with less wear than any competing chain because of the compensating rolling cam action in the patented Ramsey joint. 24-hour delivery, in 3/8″ to 1-1/2″ pitch.

ROLDWELD Steel Spur Gears

This new electric-welded steel gear has a .45% C. forging-quality rim. It is long wearing and practically unbreakable. The cost is less than a steel casting, the strength is greater, and delivery can be made in a quarter of the time. See photo above.

Flexible Couplings

A full line of standard flexible couplings for both high speed and slow speed, the former illustrated here, are carried in stock up to 8¼ in. shaft size. Larger sizes to order. We also stock small power flexible couplings down to fractional h.p. ratings. Send for coupling catalogue.

UNIFORM

Mechanics tell us that what they want is uniform quality. They like to be certain that each file is fully efficient. They can't have their work interrupted by variations in quality.

The files on which these trade marks appear look uniformly alike. In the same shape and size you'll notice the cuts are all exactly the same; that the points are identical; and you can see there are no differences.

Also these files are uniform in the quality of their performance. There are no hidden defects. Careful selection of "live file steel", expert processing and rigid testing give you complete confidence in these leading brands.

Die Castings

Strength—our zinc base alloy is from virgin metals of a tested proven formula—a thermostat holds the casting temperature to an absolute pre-determined degree—our modern machines exert a high pressure to produce a dense homogeneous casting.

Precision—we can supply dies which will assure all dimensions within close limits which you specify.

Finish—requires very little machining or polishing.

Our die castings are being used for automobile door handles and ornaments, clock cases, gears, washing machine parts, handles and escutcheons for plumbing fixtures, etc. A call from our representative may improve your product and reduce your cost. We are at your service.

MONEL METAL

Monel Metal is a registered trade mark applied to a technically controlled Nickel-Copper alloy containing approximately two-thirds Nickel and one-third Copper. Monel Metal is mined, smelted, refined, rolled and marketed solely by International Nickel.

Characteristics. Monel is a beautiful white metal closely resembling platinum in color. It is corrosion-resisting, will not rust. It is clean, bright, sanitary. Monel Metal is strong and tough as steel and will resist wear and abrasion to an unusual degree. Because it is so close-textured it does not absorb colors or odors and is thus particularly suitable for food service and for use in the textile industry where dyes are being handled.

Principal Uses

- Chemical and Textile Plants
- Food Processing Plants
- Food Service Equipment
- In The Home
- Laundry and Dry Cleaning Plants
- Architectural Metal Work
- Propeller Shafts and Turbine Blades

SPECIAL EXPORT SECTION

THE material for this Section which gives in detail the various Government Services at the disposal of Canadian exporters, a statistical analysis of Canadian trade with the world and data in regard to export procedure, costs and financing of overseas shipments, was provided by the Department of Trade and Commerce in Ottawa.

The Department of Trade and Commerce of the Canadian Government, through the Commercial Intelligence Service with Trade Commissioners in the leading countries of the world, the Foreign Tariffs Division, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the Motion Picture Bureau, the Exhibition Branch, the Publicity Service in Canada and the United Kingdom, is an outstanding factor in the maintenance and extension of our Empire and Foreign trade. Throughout Canada manufacturers shipping abroad are agreed on its value and efficiency in investigating foreign markets, assisting in the establishment of export sales connections, supplying information concerning customs, packing and trade mark regulations, promoting and safeguarding their interests in other countries and advertising Canada and Canadian products. Exporting firms consider its Services an essential complement to their own organizations.

The Canadian Manufacturers Association co-operates very closely with the Commercial Intelligence Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce. It notifies members when Trade Commissioners are visiting Canada, arranges appointments and advises its members of the assistance which this Service provides.

For the benefit of firms contemplating export business and others who may require information on points of procedure from time to time there are included articles on "Some Yardsticks for measuring ability to Export", "Five Methods of doing Export Trade" and "Financing Foreign Trade". These were prepared by experts on each subject.

It is hoped that the publication of this Section will prove useful not only to established and potential exporters in Canada but also to importers in other countries who may have occasion to consult it.

THE EDITOR.

PART 1.

Department of Trade and Commerce

The Act of Parliament which in 1887, created the Department of Trade and Commerce and which was brought into effect by an Order-in-Council, dated December 5th, 1892, merely provided that there should be a Department of the Government of Canada to be called the Department of Trade and Commerce. The duties and powers of the Minister were defined to be the execution of laws enacted by the Parliament of Canada relating to such matters connected with trade and commerce generally, as had not been by assigned to any other Department of the Government. In the succeeding years a wide range of services have been performed and at present the Acts administered by the Department include The Canada Grain Act; Electricity Inspection Act; Gas Inspection Act; Electricity and Fluid Exportation Act; Electric Units Act; Precious Metals Marking Act; Statistics Act; Water Meters Act, Inspection of; Weights and Measures Inspection Act; Inland Water Freight Rates Act; An Act to place Canadian Coal used in the manufacture of iron or steel on a basis of equality with imported coal.

The various functions of the Department are carried out by the following organizations:—

The Commercial Intelligence Service

The Commercial Intelligence Service is the chief agency of the government assisting export trade. It maintains abroad a staff of 35 Trade Commissioners and 27 Assistant Trade Commissioners, whose function it is to assist Canadian producers and manufacturers in developing export markets. This Service, which operates under the Department of Trade and Commerce, is at the free disposal of Canadian exporters.

When consulted by the Canadian exporter as to market outlets for his product, the Commercial Intelligence Service refers to several sources of information. Previous correspondence and reports from Trade Commissioners are examined. Canadian Export Statistics reveal the quantities, and to what countries the product in question is being shipped; and the import statistics of those countries show the quantities and sources of import. Consequently, the exporter can usually be given a good preliminary idea of the opportunities and difficulties, or competition likely to be met in any country. If there are any possibilities for his product, he is advised to communicate direct with the Trade Commissioner concerned, and to send him catalogues, samples, c.i.f. prices, and other data. The exporter is guided and assisted by the Trade Commissioner in forming a connection, and his interests are carefully watched until he is well established in the market.

Foreign importers, in many cases, approach the Trade Commissioner seeking possible sources of supply in Canada. Their enquiries are forwarded to the Department for publication in the Commercial Intelligence Journal and for circulation to Canadian firms likely to be interested.

The Trade Commissioner is often responsible for discovering and exploring new channels of trade. From his observations he may suspect that his territory may be developed into a market for some Canadian product. Once convinced that the commodity can compete with that offered by other countries, he will endeavour to interest importers in a trial shipment.

The Department at Ottawa publishes the Commercial Intelligence Journal, the subscription rate of which is the nominal one of $1.00 per year. This weekly publication contains the reports of Trade Commissioners pertaining to the market conditions of their territory in general, and the situation with regard to definite commodities in particular. It also contains other information regarding international trade, such as foreign exchange quotations, proposed sailings, tariff changes, trade inquiries, etc.

Assistance that can be given by Canadian Trade Commissioners

Many manufacturers and exporters apparently are not fully advised as to the valuable services that can be rendered by Canadian Trade Commissioners. The following summary is therefore issued with a view to rendering the activities of Canadian Trade Commissioners of greater use to manufacturers and exporters generally.

Commercial Information

1. Up-to-date information is available to manufacturers and exporters through the Commercial Intelligence Journal or by direct correspondence with the Department or any of the Canadian Trade Commissioners as to:—

(a) The present and prospective demand for their goods.

(b) Foreign and local competition (with specimens, catalogues and prices).

(c) Details of best selling methods.

(d) Reports on foreign buyers, though the Department cannot assume any responsibility in any opinions expressed by Trade Commissioners. They, however, will use their best endeavours to advise exporters as to the standing of such firms.

(e) Specifications of articles in particular demand.

(f) Inquiries for goods, and by means of an efficient system for collecting such inquiries the names can be obtained from time to time from the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Department at Ottawa.

Agents, Buyers, and Distributors

2. Trade Commissioners will also:—

(a) Recommend to intending exporters the names of responsible parties in a position to act as agents or buyers and distributors.

(b) Give every possible assistance to such agents, etc., and will introduce them to influential individuals or associations who may be in a position to buy goods from Canada.

(c) Give confidential information, when so requested, as to the activities of agents appointed by Canadian exporters, or firms to whom sales have been, or are being, made.

3. Trade Commissioners can assist in advising Canadian exporters and manufacturers:—

(a) As to the best media in which to place advertisements and the form which such advertisements should take, i.e., their adaptation to the special requirements of the community.

(b) In the display of catalogues, price lists and samples where they can be seen by potential buyers.

(c) As to the distribution of trade literature and its probable cost.

General

4. (a) Trade Commissioners will always be glad to receive visitors from Canada and introduce them to possible buyers or agents, or put them in touch with such experts as legal advisers, interpreters, and shipping and banking representatives.

(b) The good offices of Trade Commissioners can always be invoked with a view to settling difficulties which may arise between the Canadian exporters and buyers abroad.

(c) Trade Commissioners will at any time provide such information as may be available as to freight rates customs, port dues, etc., so as to enable Canadian firms to quote prices for delivery overseas. They will be glad also to provide information respecting cost of travel, regulations applicable to commercial travellers, packing and marking of goods, shipping accommodation, storage arrangements, and any other foreign government regulations or conditions which have to be complied with.

Financial Arrangements

5. Particulars can be obtained with regard to:—

(a) Terms of credit which may be given to foreign buyers.

(b) Financial houses and banks who will discount bills or give credit.

(c) Regulations governing the recovery of debts in foreign countries.

(d) Disposal of goods abroad contracted for but not accepted by foreign buyers.

(e) Infringement of trade marks or patent rights; and advice on registration

Information Necessary to the Trade Commissioner

When a Canadian exporter desires the assistance of a Trade Commissioner in marketing his goods abroad, he should with the first letter provide that officer with the following:—

(a) Catalogues and best export prices c.i.f. port of entry, or failing that, f.o.b. Canadian port. It is quite useless to send prices f.o.b. factory.

(b) Details regarding process of manufacture if convenient.

(c) If not too bulky, samples of what the firms have to offer should be forwarded—not necessarily a full range—and a draft or money order sufficient to cover the customs duties and landing charges on the samples.

(d) Bankers' references.

(e) The proportion of output which is available for export, time required to ship from receipt of order and the quantity for which orders will be accepted.

(f) Details of the experience he has had in the territory served by the Trade Commissioner.

(g) Information regarding previous connections, if any, which he has either with agents or importers. If connections still exist, what, if any, bearing will they have on fresh contacts that may be established through the efforts of the Trade Commissioner.

The Trade Commissioner will thus be in a position to make a survey of his territory, report the opportunities for the lines to be exported, and can then either place the exporter in communication with reliable importers or recommend suitable agents.

What the Canadian Exporter can do for the Trade Commissioner

The meagre information frequently furnished by Canadian exporters places a serious handicap on the Trade Commissioner in his efforts to market their products.

A general statement, therefore, of the facts about the exporter, his banking references, whether he is already engaged in foreign trade, and for what period and to what extent, are some of the essentials which should be given in the first letter either to the Department or to a Trade Commissioner, particularly the latter. He also wants general data about the commodity which the exporter wishes to sell in that particular market, noting any special advantages pertaining to the line offered, particularly as compared with well-known articles of the same type from other countries. He also wants to know exactly what the manufacturer is himself willing to do to place his goods in the new field: the basis on which sales would be made to the importer or on which goods could be offered for sale by a recognized agent, and the commission that would be paid the latter; what would be required of an importing house or agent in order to obtain the agency for the line; whether the manufacturer would send consignment stock or samples and in what quantity; whether he is prepared to advertise or to co-operate in advertising and to what extent; the facilities possessed by the manufacturer for export shipment, and the kind of supervision that is exercised by him over the packing of goods destined for a distant market.

Prices

Prices should never be quoted from an interior manufacturing point in Canada. Where quotations c.i.f. port of destination are not practicable, they should be given f.o.b. steamer, but it is strongly recommended that prices should be quoted c.i.f. This is a most important point, as the foreign buyer has no definite knowledge of the charges likely to be incurred if quotations are f.o.b. cars at port of shipment and freight rates from some interior point in Canada to the seaboard are unobtainable in foreign countries. He has no means of knowing insurance rates, or the elements that enter into the fixing of the premiums. As a rule he is unable to obtain a quotation of an outward freight rate at an inward port, as the general practice of steamship companies is to refer a request for a freight rate from (say) Montreal to Auckland to the agent in the former city, although an approximate rate may be quoted. The foreign buyer is at a distinct disadvantage unless prices are quoted c.i.f.

Discounts

Discounts should be printed, or typewritten, preferably on a folder or slip accompanying the catalogue. In submitting an illustrated descriptive catalogue to prospective customers the importer should not be placed in the position of having to disclose the exact terms on which the goods are offered to him.

Gross and Net Weight

A knowledge of the gross and net weights per unit quoted is essential. Without these the prospective purchaser is unable to estimate laid down costs.

Summary of Points to be Noted

The fullest possible information in regard to the commodity and complete details on the following points would greatly aid the Trade Commissioners in the intelligent handling of inquiries addressed to them as to the introduction and subsequent marketing of Canadian goods on behalf of exporters:—

1. Cable address, code used, and special code words not in the regular code books.
2. Bankers' references.
3. (a) The basis on which prices are quoted, whether c.i.f. main foreign ports; f.a.s. Canadian ports; or f.o.b. vessel.
   (b) Are prices in Canadian or American funds?
   (c) If prices are c.i.f. and transhipment has to be made, are such items as consular charges and disbursements at port of transhipment and/or unloading for account of buyer?
4. Are quotations firm, or subject to change without notice due to fluctuations in costs of raw material?
5. On what quantity basis are quotations made? Can prices be reduced on quantity orders, and if so how much?
6. Are orders subject to acceptance by exporter?
7. What brand do lines bear, and are these to be sold under this brand in foreign markets?
8. What is the nature of packing? Heavy wooden crates, boxes, new bags or burlap?

9. Are lines stocked and available for immediate shipment? If not, how long after receipt of order will goods go forward?
10. What are your terms? Is there a special discount for cash?
11. What is the gross and net weight in pounds? Measurement in cubic feet?

With the foregoing information on hand, supplemented by recent catalogues and descriptive literature, and, if not too bulky, samples—not necessarily a full range—Trade Commissioners are put in a position to give the best service to Canadian exporters and can either place them in communication with reliable importers or recommend suitable agents.

Trade Commissioners' Tours

The periodical return of Trade Commissioners for official tours of the Dominion is one of the most important factors in effecting practical co-operation between the Canadian exporter and the foreign importer. The Trade Commissioner can during the course of his tour call upon or discuss export problems with practically every firm specially interested in exporting to his territory. The Department endeavours to bring back the Trade Commissioners by a scheme of rotation, giving special consideration to officers in tropical or unhealthy posts, but these visits are always subject to the exigencies of trading conditions, and of the Service generally. Well in advance of the time of arrival in Canada they circularize individual exporters for the purpose of determining what special points they wish to take up and on which full information is secured. In addition to this form of publicity, the department publishes a notice in the Commercial Intelligence Journal inviting firms who may be interested in any particular territory to state whether or not an interview is desired. The names of such firms, together with those with whom the Trade Commissioner has been in communication, form the basis of the itinerary. Firms anxious to interview any Trade Commissioner on tour may do so by communicating with the Director of the service.

Foreign Tariffs Division

The primary purpose of the Foreign Tariffs Division is to give information to exporters and others concerned, on such subjects as customs duties leviable in British and foreign countries; commercial treaties; tariff preferences and their administration, including Canadian content requirements; certificates of origin and direct shipping; invoicing and consular procedure; customs valuation and anti-dumping legislation; quota restrictions; export bounties; laws on merchandise marks, food standards, animal and plant pests and related governmental trade regulations. Exporters require detailed and practical advice on these subjects, necessitating interpretation of complicated laws and regulations which, taken as a whole, are subject to constant change.

The method by which the Foreign Tariffs Division deals with the tariffs of the world is to allot zones or groups of countries to a particular official, the allotment in each case depending on the importance of the trade of Canada with the particular area and character of the Customs laws involved. Information is distributed by answering specific inquiries, of which many are received daily; by articles in the Commercial Intelligence Journal; by notifications of changes in tariffs or trade regulations; and by circulation of pamphlets.

On account of the information collected for trade promotion work and the correspondence conducted with export interests, the Foreign Tariffs Division co-operates in assembling data for negotiation of trade agreements between Canada and other countries, and participates in various tariff bargaining activities.

The chief single source of reference material used is the International Customs Tariffs Bureau at Brussels, created in 1890 by an international convention to translate and circulate tariffs, and which has since been maintained by the leading commercial countries of the world including Canada. Other important sources are the tariffs and official rulings in various languages published by the respective governments concerned, Canadian Trade Commissioners, commercial intelligence journals of important commercial countries, miscellaneous official reports and general reference books. The information thus obtained is classified for convenient reference.

Subsidized Steamship Service

When the Department came into being, a number of local and foreign steamship services which previously had been subsidized by the Canadian Government and payments made by the Department of Finance, were placed under its jurisdiction.

Ocean subsidies are paid to assist in the maintenance of services which would otherwise be unable to operate, on account of insufficient revenue, and which supply necessary trade connections between Canada and other countries; for the benefit of Canadian exporters, and to enable them, by means of reasonable freight rates and regular sailings, to compete with other countries in foreign markets; and for the transportation of Canadian mails overseas, free of charge to the Post Office Department, and without additional cost to the Government.

Subsidies for local services are paid to assist in the maintenance of coasting services for the purpose of giving regular sailings and adequate facilities for communication between ports and settlements on the mainland, which are in many cases far removed from railways and in some cases have no highway facilities; to give necessary and regular communication to islands isolated from the mainland; for the free transportation of mails without additional cost to the Government in cases where the services performed are found suitable for that purpose by the Post Office Department; and to carry supplies to outlying and otherwise isolated districts.

Publicity

To meet the increasing demand from Canadian and foreign publications for informative and interpretive material relative to both external and internal trade, as also industrial publications in Canada, a Publicity Branch was organized about eight years ago. Its primary functions are to prepare for trade and industrial publications, both at home and abroad, articles or supply material for articles dealing with Canadian industries and export activities and also to place in the Canadian press such advertising as may be deemed desirable from time to time to direct attention to the services which the Department offers to Canadian business men. In the same way, advertising is placed under the supervision of Canadian Trade Commissioners in selected publications in foreign countries featuring Canadian sources of supply and Canadian progress.

All Canadian Trade Commissioners are furnished regularly, not only with news items concerning Canada for local distribution, but pictorial matter, which has grown to be a feature.

With the assistance of the Department of Marine and through the Canadian press a daily radio news service, thoroughly Canadian in character, is conducted to all shipping on the Pacific Ocean within a listening radius.

Through Reuter's Limited a news service, in both Spanish and English, is circulated among newspapers in South and Central America and through the same agency to Japan, China and Manchukuo.

Motion Picture Bureau

By means of films and photographic material, the Canadian Government Motion Picture Bureau is doing much to make Canada and Canada's resources, industries and products known throughout the world. The Motion Picture Bureau produces sound and silent film in both the 35 mm and 16 mm size as well as photographs of all kinds, transparencies, enlargements, lantern slides, film slides and other photographic display material covering a very wide range of subjects which are extensively circulated, published and displayed throughout the world.

The total number of films in active circulation throughout the world at the close of the last fiscal year was 5,773, representing a total footage of approximately 5,000,000 feet.

The following table indicates the distribution of films in active circulation as of November 30th, 1935:

In addition to the above the Bureau has a series of sound films dealing with Canadian industries, resources, scenic and tourist attractions, etc., in active circulation among the theatres of Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the British West Indies, India, the United States and other parts of the English-speaking world. Plans are under way to also produce foreign language versions of these films for exhibition in other important countries.

Canadian Government Trade Commissioners throughout the world are kept supplied with films and photographs for circulation, exhibition and publication and the Bureau not only actively co-operates with the other Branches of the Department of Trade and Commerce, but with other Dominion Government Departments, the Provincial Governments, railway and steamship companies and Tourist and Publicity Bureaux in promoting trade and tourist travel by means of films and pictorial material. The Bureau also supplies a large amount of pictorial display material for the use of the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission, the Director of Trade Publicity in Great Britain, the Canadian Travel Bureau and other such organizations.

In addition to its film activities the Bureau operates a large still photograph division, which includes a library of over 20,000 photographs of Canada. Thousands of photographs are distributed to the press, trade publications, etc., each year.

The Bureau operates its own laboratories and plant at Ottawa where films and photographic materials of all kinds are produced for its own use and that of other Government Departments.

Canadian Government Exhibition Commission

The Canadian Government Exhibition Commission, with headquarters in London, and a liaison officer in the Department at Ottawa, has as its main objectives: First, to provide an efficient and comprehensive method of advertising Canadian goods throughout the British Isles by participation in all leading exhibitions; second, to extend the distribution of Canadian produce and goods to both traders and consumers by demonstration of their quality; third, to assist Canadian manufacturers to extend their business abroad by enabling them to display their products under the most favourable conditions; fourth, to display and advertise Canadian natural resources, thereby directing attention to the Dominion as a land of opportunity; fifth, to organize Canadian exhibits at International Exhibitions as and when considered to be advantageous to do so.

Its activities during the past year may be broadly classified as follows:—(a) Canadian sections were organized in seven exhibitions, including the British Industries Fair at London and Birmingham, the Grocery and Allied Trades' International Exhibition, London, the Housing and Health Exhibition, Glasgow, the Bristol's Annual Exhibition, Bristol, the Building Trades' Exhibition, London, the Manchester Grocers' and Allied Trades' Exhibition, held at Belle Vue, Manchester, and the Imperial Fruit Show at Granby Halls, Leicester; (b) Exhibitions in which Government displays only are made of natural resources and the industrial life of the Dominion; (c) the display and sales of samples of food and associated products in what are known as Canada Shops; (d) Exhibitions under the "co-operative policy", whereby individual firms who could not of themselves afford to participate are given financial assistance up to 50% of the expenditure involved within certain specified limits and for the purpose of displaying their products at Exhibitions in which it is impractical to form Canadian sections; (e) general propaganda which includes loan exhibits of decorative material and samples, displays in departmental stores, decorative material loaned to bazaars and pageants, displays of natural resources, descriptive literature and general publicity.

Full information with respect to any Exhibition in which Canadian firms wish to participate may be obtained on application to the Exhibition Commissioner in London or the Department at Ottawa.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics was set up by statute as the central statistical department for Canada. It is mainly organized to compile and issue statistics under the following headings: Population—Census and Vital Statistics; Agriculture; Fisheries, Furs, Animal and Dairy Products; Mining, Metallurgical and Chemical; Forestry and Allied Industries; General Manufactures; External Trade (Imports and Exports); Internal Trade; Transportation; Finance; Administration of Justice; Education; and General Statistics.

The official trade statistics of Canada are made available by this Bureau. Statements of Canada's imports and exports and the latest trade information are published monthly, quarterly and annually, supplemented by numerous press letters dealing with particular commodities.

An annual record of Canadian production is kept with detailed records of internal marketing conditions. A close contact with current economic developments in all other countries is also maintained with a library of statistical publications of practically every country in the world.

The Bureau of Statistics, therefore, has available complete reference material necessary for studies in connection with export problems.

Canada Grain Act

Under the Canada Grain Act the Board of Grain Commissioners was created to have general supervision over grain inspection in Canada.

The headquarters of the Board which are at Winnipeg, comprise five principal divisions, charged respectively with administration, inspection and grading, registration of receipts, weighing of grain and the receiving and storing of grain in Government elevators, and two subsidiary organizations, viz., Grain Appeal Tribunals and the Eastern and Western Committees on Grain Standards.

To describe the development of grain warehousing or storage in Canada, from primitive facilities which existed until a few years ago to the modern elevator capable of storing from 8,000 to 7,500,000 bushels of grain, would be a big task in itself. The achievements of the Western farmer in that respect have led to the cultivation in new sections of the Canadian West, the extension of civilization and the placing of Canada in the forefront of the world's grain trade.

Analysis of Canada's Trade

An encouraging development in 1934 was the marked and widespread improvement in world trade, as thirty-one (31) out of thirty-five chief trading countries of the world in 1934 compared with 1933, had increases in imports, and thirty-two (32) had increases in exports. Canada, in percentage of increase in her trade amongst the thirty-five (35) leading countries occupied eleventh position in both imports and exports, but in 1933 compared with 1932 she occupied only thirtieth position in imports, and twenty-third position in exports. In percentage of exports over imports Canada in 1933 occupied seventh place, and 1934 ninth place.

The steady but marked increase in Canada's foreign trade for the year ended March 31, 1935, had its inception in the early months of 1933-34. Total trade during the fiscal year, 1934-35, amounted to $1,189,990,000; imports accounting for $522,431,000 of this amount; domestic exports for $659,900,000; and foreign exports for $7,659,000; the increase in the total trade 1934-35 compared with 1933-34 amounting to $170,537,000 or 16.7 per cent; imports to $88,632,000 or 20.4 per cent; domestic exports to $80,557,000 or 13.9 per cent; and foreign exports to $1,348,000 or 21.4 per cent. Empire countries accounted for 46.5 per cent of the increase in Canada's total trade from 1933-34 to 1934-35 and foreign countries for 53.5 per cent; the increase in imports from Empire countries accounted for 17.8 per cent of the total, and from foreign countries for 82.2 per cent; while the Empire's share in the increase in domestic exports was 78.8 per cent, and foreign countries 21.2 per cent.

Canada's trade for the past eleven fiscal years may be divided into three periods: (1) 1924-25 to 1929-30, expanding trade; (2) 1929-30 to 1932-33, general trade depression; and (3) 1932-33 to 1934-35, trade recovery. During the depression period the slump in imports was greater than in exports, while during the recovery period the increase in imports was not as great as in exports. The statistics in the following table give the percentages of increase or decrease in Canada's total trade, imports and exports on a value and volume basis, for the fiscal years 1929-30 to 1934-35. It will be observed that Canada's total trade for the fiscal year 1934-35 compared with 1933-34 shows an increase of 16.7 per cent on a value basis and 11.1 per cent on a volume basis; imports an increase of 20.4 per cent on a value basis, and 13.9 per cent on a volume basis, while the Dominion's domestic exports show an increase of 13.9 per cent on a value basis, and 8.9 per cent on a volume basis.

The United Kingdom in 1933 and 1934 occupied second position in the value of exports, while Canada moved from sixth position in 1933 up to fifth position in 1934, displacing Belgium. In import trade Canada moved from eleventh place in 1933 up to ninth place in 1934, displacing Switzerland and British India, while in total trade the Dominion moved from ninth place in 1933 up to eighth place in 1934, displacing Italy.

The following table gives further details respecting the relative position of the leading commercial countries of the world.

Canada's Position in International Trade, 1934

Canada during the calendar year 1934, has maintained a relatively high place amongst the principal trading countries of the world. The statistics in the following table giving "Comparison of the Trade of Twenty Principal Countries of the World", indicate that from 1913 to 1934, only eight countries had increases in imports, viz.: Denmark, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Union of South Africa, and the United Kingdom; nine in exports, viz.: Australia, Canada, Denmark, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, and Union of South Africa; and eight in aggregate trade, viz.: Canada, Denmark, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, and Union of South Africa.

Canada, in export trade, moved from sixth place last year up to fifth place this year (1934), displacing Belgium, and, consequently was exceeded in value of exports, in order of importance, by the United States, the United Kingdom, Germany, and France; in import trade Canada moved up to ninth place from eleventh last year, displacing British India, and Switzerland, and thus, in 1934, she was exceeded in value of imports, in order of importance, by the United Kingdom, Germany, the United States, France, the Netherlands, Japan, Italy, and Belgium; while in aggregate or total trade she occupied eighth place, as compared with ninth place last year, displacing Italy, and, consequently, Canada, in value of aggregate or total trade, in order of importance, was exceeded by the United Kingdom, the United States, Germany, France, Japan, Belgium, and the Netherlands. In export trade Canada, in 1913, occupied tenth place amongst the leading commercial countries of the world, but in 1934 she had moved up to fifth place; in import trade in 1913, Canada occupied eighth position, but in 1934 she had moved down to ninth position; while in aggregate or total trade, Canada, in 1913, occupied ninth place, but in 1934 she occupied eighth place. During the past twenty-two years Canada has occupied the following positions amongst the leading commercial countries of the world in respect of her foreign trade.

In trade per capita Canada has made a very creditable showing since 1913. In that year she occupied seventh place in exports per capita, but in 1934 she occupied fifth place, being exceeded in exports per capita by New Zealand, Belgium, Denmark, and Switzerland. In 1928, Canada occupied second position in exports per capita, New Zealand being in first position. In imports per capita in 1913 Canada occupied fifth place, but in 1934 she moved into tenth place, being exceeded in imports per capita by Switzerland, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Denmark, Belgium, the United Kingdom, Norway, Sweden, and Australia. In 1928, the Dominion occupied fifth place in imports per capita. In aggregate or total trade per capita Canada, in 1934, occupied tenth position amongst the chief trading countries of the world, compared with sixth position in 1913, being exceeded in aggregate or total trade per capita by New Zealand, Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Norway, Australia, and Sweden. In 1928, Canada was in second position in total trade per capita, New Zealand occupying first place. In 1934, the trade per capita of the ten leading countries, arranged in order of importance of total trade per capita were: New Zealand: Total trade, $202.22, Imports, $81.02, Exports, $121.20; Switzerland: Total trade, $177.00, Imports, $111.42, Exports, $65.58; Belgium: Total trade, $152.43, Imports, $76.94, Exports, $75.49; Denmark: Total trade, $151.29, Imports, $79.59, Exports, $71.70; the Netherlands: Total trade, $142.64, Imports, $84.62, Exports, $58.02; the United Kingdom: Total trade, $115.16, Imports, $72.81, Exports, $42.35; Norway: Total trade, $113.80, Imports, $63.75, Exports, $50.05; Australia: Total trade, $108.17, Imports, $49.53, Exports, $58.64; Sweden: Total trade, $107.53, Imports, $53.89, Exports, $53.64; and Canada: Total trade, $107.00, Imports, $46.74, Exports, $60.26.

With reference to visible merchandise trade balance Canada, in 1913, occupied seventeenth position amongst the leading commercial countries of the world, it being unfavourable in that year to the extent of $222,900,000, or $29.61 per capita, but in 1928 she was in third position, with a favourable trade balance of $151,900,000, or $15.72 per capita. In 1929, the Dominion's trade balance was unfavourable to the extent of $90,600,000; 1930, $103,000,000; 1931, $10,800,000; but in 1932 it was favourable to the extent of $49,200,000; in 1933 to the extent of $136,600,000; and in 1934 to the extent of $146,400,000, or $13.52 per capita. In 1929, Canada occupied fourth place in amount of favourable trade balance, being exceeded by the United States, Germany, and Australia. In 1934, as in 1913, the United States was in first place in amount of favourable trade balance. On December 31, 1934, Canada stood in second place (in 1933 fourth) amongst the principal commercial countries of the world with respect to the amount of her favourable trade balance, as also second (in 1933 third) as respects her favourable trade balance per capita.

During the calendar year 1934, the favourable trade balance per capita of the British Dominions, viz.: New Zealand ($40.18), Canada ($13.52), Australia ($9.11), and Union of South Africa ($7.81), exceeded the trade balances per capita of any of the twenty principal trading countries of the world (except Argentina) by a very wide margin; the next country in order of importance being Argentina, with a favourable trade balance of $7.22. The United States comes next with a favourable trade balance of $3.62, Brazil with $1.88, while British India followed with a favourable trade balance of $0.25.

For more detailed information relative to Canada's position in international trade in recent years, see statistics in the following tables indicating (a) Comparison of the Trade of Twenty Principal Countries of the World, 1913 and 1934; (b) Trade of Twenty Principal Trading Countries of the World, 1924 to 1934; (c) Per Capita Trade of Twenty Principal Countries of the World, 1924 to 1934; (d) Trade Balances of Twenty Principal Countries of the World, 1913, 1933 and 1934; and (e) Trade Balances per Capita of Twenty Principal Countries, 1913, and 1929 to 1934.

Canada, since 1913, has made remarkable progress in the expansion of her trade in the world's principal markets. It will be noted from the statistics in the following tables, Nos. 1 and 2, showing "Canada's Share in the Imports and Exports of Principal Countries" that in 1913 the total trade of these countries (forty leading countries) amounted to $34,868,143,000, imports amounting to $18,257,000,000, and exports to $16,611,143,000; but in 1933 the total trade of the identical countries was $26,406,225,000, imports totalling $13,993,535,000, and exports $12,412,690,000, the decrease from 1913 to 1933 being: in total trade, $8,461,918,000 or 24.2 per cent; in imports, $4,263,465,000 or 23.4 per cent, and in exports $4,198,453,000 or 25.3 per cent. During the same years, viz.: 1913 and 1933, the trade of these same countries with Canada was: 1913, total trade, $918,208,000; imports, $355,222,000; and exports, $562,986,000; in 1933, total trade, $953,807,000; imports, $564,694,000; and exports, $389,113,000; the increase in the trade with Canada, 1913 to 1933, being: in total trade, $35,599,000 or 3.9 per cent; in imports the increase was $209,472,000 or 59.0 per cent; and in exports the decrease was $173,873,000 or 30.9 per cent. From 1913 to 1933 the total trade of the forty leading countries listed in Tables Nos. 1 and 2, decreased 24.2 per cent, but with Canada the increase was 3.9 per cent; imports into the identical countries decreased 23.4 per cent, but from Canada the increase was 59.0 per cent; while the exports from the same countries decreased 25.3 per cent, but to Canada the decrease was 30.9 per cent. Canada's share in the trade of these countries was: imports, in 1913, 1.95 per cent; in 1933, 4.05 per cent; in exports, in 1913, 3.39 per cent; in 1933, 3.13 per cent.

In 1933 Canada's stated imports from the forty countries listed amounted to $394,518,000, but the recorded exports from these countries to Canada were valued at $389,113,000, a discrepancy in favour of Canada of $5,405,000. The discrepancy, however, between Canada's imports from European countries, and the recorded exports from European countries to Canada, amounting to $20,837,000, was in favour of Canada. The Canadian import figures include both the domestic and foreign exports from the European countries, whereas the European exports recorded as to Canada consist of domestic produce only. The discrepancy between Canadian imports from the continent of North America, and the recorded exports from the continent of North America to Canada, is in favour of the continent of North America, and amounted to $12,903,000. This discrepancy was chiefly due to the fact that the United States exports large quantities of goods to overseas countries via Canada, which are shown in United States trade returns as exported to Canada, whereas they are treated in Canada as intransit, not being included in the Canadian import or export figures. The discrepancy, however, between imports into Canada from South America, Asia, Oceania and Africa, and the recorded exports from these continents to Canada, amounting to $2,529,000, occurred chiefly in the movement of products from South America to Canada.

With reference to the movement of goods from Canada in the calendar year 1933 to the various markets of the world, the declared exports to the forty leading countries amounted to $516,779,000; while the recorded imports into the forty countries from Canada totalled $564,694,000, a discrepancy between the two sets of figures of $47,915,000 in favour of the forty countries. The discrepancy between the exports from Canada to the specified European countries in 1933 and their imports from Canada amounting to $13,208,000, was no doubt due to the fact that the specified European countries credit products of United States origin, intransit via Canada, to Canada, while such intransit products do not appear in Canada's exports to the specified European countries.

The discrepancy of $32,396,000 between Canada's exports to specified North American countries, and their imports from Canada, is largely accounted for by the fact that the Canadian figure includes domestic exports only to the specified North American countries, while the imports into these North American countries include foreign as well as domestic produce exported from Canada; and also due to the fact that goods intransit from other countries via Canada are credited to Canada in these North American countries, and not to the countries of origin.

The particulars are set out in the following table, calendar year 1933:

merchandise trade balance in 1934-35 compared with 1931-32 amounted to $136,067,000; with 1932-33 to $70,798,000; but compared with the same period in 1933-34 the trade balance was less favourable, amounting to $6,727,000. If the trade in merchandise and coin and bullion are combined, the visible trade balance with the world in the fiscal year 1934-35 was favourable to the extent of $241,955,000, compared with a favourable balance in 1931-32 of $79,085,000; in 1932-33 of $138,301,000; and in 1933-34 of $252,820,000.

For further details respecting Canada's trade with the world, in merchandise and coin and bullion, fiscal years 1931-32, 1932-33, 1933-34 and 1934-35, see statistics in the preceding table.

Canada's Trade by Main Groups, 1934-35

During the fiscal year 1934-35 Canada's total domestic exports of merchandise, amounting to $659,900,000, were $83,556,000 or 14.5 per cent greater than for the fiscal year 1931-32 and $186,100,000 or 39.3 per cent greater than for 1932-33. The increase in Canada's domestic exports, 1934-35 compared with 1932-33, occurred in each of the nine main groups. The total value of each of the nine main groups of domestic exports with increase 1934-35 compared with 1932-33 was (1) Agricultural and Vegetable Products, $226,233,000, increase $22,863,000; (2) Animals and Animal Products, $86,848,000, increase $32,515,000; (3) Fibres, Textiles and Textile Products, $7,523,000, increase $2,792,000; (4) Wood, Wood Products and Paper, $160,933,000, increase $40,046,000; (5) Iron and its Products, $40,736,000, increase $23,459,000; (6) Non-Ferrous Metals and their Products, $94,620,000, increase $51,978,000; (7) Non-Metallic Minerals and their Products, $15,654,000, increase $6,438,000; (8) Chemicals and Allied Products, $15,270,000, increase $4,170,000; and (9) Miscellaneous Commodities, $12,083,000, increase $1,839,000.

The statistics in the preceding table indicate the trend of Canada's trade by main groups on a value basis 1913-14 (pre-war year), 1921-22 (peak year of post-bellum boom) and 1934-35 (a) with all countries (b) with the United Kingdom and (c) with the United States.

Relation Between Trade in Raw and Manufactured Products, 1934-35

Canada was not engaged to any great extent in manufacturing processes for some years after Confederation, and consequently her imports consisted very largely of manufactured goods and her exports of raw and semi-manufactured products. Since the opening of the twentieth century, a conspicuous change in the character of Canada's imports and exports has developed, a large percentage of the imports consisting of raw and semi-manufactured products for use in Canadian manufacturing industries, and the exports consisting to a considerable degree of products which have undergone some process of manufacture. Canada, during this period, has passed through much the same stages of development in her economic life as did the United States from 1870 to 1900. From 1870 to 1900 the imports of raw materials into the United States increased from 25.2 to 44.0 per cent of the total imports; and fully manufactured products decreased from 62.1 to 40.2 per cent; while exports of raw materials from the United States during the same interval decreased from 67.7 to 40.2 per cent of the total exports, and fully manufactured products increased from 28.6 to 48.6 per cent. No statistics available for 1934, but for 1933 they show a further improvement, though the percentage of imports of raw materials is less than for any year since 1921 and of manufactured products more than for any year since 1921. Compared with 1900, the 1933 statistics show that imports of raw materials into the United States increased from 44.0 to 44.1 per cent of the total imports, and exports decreased from 40.2 to 38.1 per cent of the total exports, whereas imports of fully manufactured products decreased from 40.2 to 39.1 per cent and exports increased from 48.6 to 48.7 per cent. Compared with 1930 the United States statistics for 1933 indicate a decline in the percentage of raw materials imported, but an increase in the percentage exported, a decrease in the percentage of semi-manufactured products imported and exported, while the imports of manufactured products in 1933 show an increase over 1930, and the exports a decrease.

Canada, industrially, has not made as great progress as the United States, and, consequently, she has not increased imports of raw materials for manufacturing purposes, expanded exports of manufactured and processed goods and curtailed imports of manufactured goods to the same extent as the United States, though she has made considerable progress in this respect. From 1914 to 1935 (fiscal years) the percentage of imports into Canada of raw materials of the total imports increased from 21.8 to 30.4 per cent, while exports of raw materials of the total domestic exports decreased from 63.2 to 36.1 per cent. In 1935 the percentage of imports of raw materials of the total imports was more than for the years 1900 to 1934, while the percentage of exports of raw materials of the total domestic exports was less than for any year from 1900 to 1934, except for the year 1920. Canada's imports of fully manufactured products from 1914 to 1934 decreased from $426,300,000 to $315,800,000, or 25.9 per cent, while the domestic exports of fully manufactured products during the same interval increased from $115,300,000 to $285,500,000 or 147.6 per cent. The percentage of imports of fully manufactured products from 1914 to 1935 decreased from 68.9 to 60.4 per cent, while the percentage of exports of fully manufactured products increased from 26.7 to 43.2 per cent. In 1935 the percentage of imports of fully manufactured products of the total imports was less than for any year from 1920 to 1934, except for the year 1924; while the percentage of exports of fully manufactured products of total domestic exports was greater than for the years 1920 to 1934, except for the years 1931 and 1932. The decrease in the percentage of exports of raw materials and of fully manufactured goods in recent years was attributable to the drastic decline in commodity prices; prices of raw materials falling much more rapidly than those for manufactured goods.

Canada's Visible Merchandise Trade Balance, 1934-35

There have been marked changes in recent years in Canada's visible merchandise trade balances with the principal trading countries of the world. In the fiscal year 1913-14, Canada had a favourable trade balance with the continents of Europe, Oceania and Africa, but an unfavourable trade balance with the continents of North and South America and Asia, but in the fiscal year 1934-35 she had a favourable trade balance with the continents of Europe, Asia, Oceania and Africa, and an unfavourable trade balance with the continents of North and South America. Canada had a favourable trade balance with the continent of Europe in 1913-14 of $65,032,000, which had increased to $523,225,000 in 1919-20, but which had declined to $426,719,000 in 1925-26, and to $183,458,000 in 1934-35. This decline in Canada's favourable trade balance with the continent of Europe was largely due to a falling-off in her exports of grain, principally wheat, and also to lower average export prices. From 1913-14 to 1934-35 the number of countries in Europe with which Canada had a favourable trade balance had increased from seven to twelve. The only European countries of importance in 1934-35 with which Canada's trade balance was unfavourable were Czechoslovakia, Germany and Switzerland.

From 1913-14 to 1934-35 the Dominion's annual credit trade balance with Belgium increased from $330,000 to $8,177,000; with Denmark, from $525,000 to $1,888,000; with France, from a debit balance of $10,466,000 to a credit balance of $3,436,000; with Germany, a debit balance of $10,152,000 was reduced to $5,448,000; with the Netherlands, a credit balance of $2,494,000 was increased to $5,747,000; with Norway, from $359,000 to $4,075,000; with Spain, a debit balance of $1,228,000 was changed to a credit balance of $1,052,000; with Switzerland, a debit balance of $4,268,000 was reduced to $1,697,000; while the credit balance with the United Kingdom was increased from $90,252,000 to $163,321,000. These visible merchandise trade balances with European countries do not represent the true situation, as a very large quantity of grain, especially wheat, shown in Canadian export trade as destined for the United Kingdom via the United States, is diverted from its original destination, the United Kingdom, to other destinations, chiefly to continental European countries. As a result of this diversion, the credit trade balance with the United Kingdom would be materially reduced, and the trade balances with other European countries increased by a corresponding amount.

Canada's visible merchandise trade balance with the continent of North America has been unfavourable since 1882, the debit balance with the United States being responsible for this situation. If the trade of the United States is eliminated from the continent of North America, the trade balance with other North America increased from a debit balance in 1913-14 of $2,385,000 to a credit balance of $4,034,000 in 1934-35. In 1913-14 the debit balance with the continent of North America amounted to $221,739,000, but for the fiscal year 1934-35 it amounted to $68,724,000; while the number of countries in North America with which Canada had a debit balance was reduced from eight to five. The Dominion's credit balance with Bermuda from 1913-14 to 1934-35 was increased from $397,000 to $999,000; the debit balance with British Honduras of $146,000 was converted to a credit balance of $168,000; the credit balance of $143,000 with the British West Indies was changed to a debit balance of $4,215,000; while the debit balance with Cuba of $2,124,000 was converted into a credit balance of $275,000. The debit balance with Mexico, amounting to $1,419,000 in 1913-14 was converted into a credit balance in 1934-35 of $1,394,000; the credit balance with Newfoundland during this period was increased from $2,900,000 to $5,077,000; the debit balance with San Domingo was reduced from $2,882,000 in 1913-14 to $1,054,000 in 1934-35; while during the same interval the debit balance with the United States was reduced from $219,354,000 to $72,758,000.

The Dominion's debit balance with South America in 1913-14, amounting to $4,994,000 was reduced to $4,150,000 in 1934-35. The debit balance with Argentina in 1913-14, amounting to $468,000 was converted to a credit balance of $1,253,000 in 1934-35; the debit balance of $396,000 with Brazil during the same period was changed to a credit balance of $1,944,000; the debit balance with British Guiana of $2,526,000 was reduced to $1,501,000; while the debit balance of $633,000 with Chile was changed to a credit balance of $489,000. From 1913-14 to 1934-35 the debit balance of $125,000 with Colombia was increased to $3,764,000, and with Peru from $737,000 to $2,681,000.

The most notable change in Canada's trade balance with any continent from 1913-14 to 1934-35 occurred with the continent of Asia, the debit balance of $8,118,000 being converted into a credit balance of $9,789,000. The principal countries in Asia responsible for this change were China and Japan, the trade balance of the former increasing from a debit balance of $440,000 to a credit balance of $2,126,000; and of the latter from a debit balance of $1,015,000 to a credit balance of $12,520,000. During this interval the debit balance with British India was reduced from $4,589,000 to $2,294,000; while the debit balance with the British Straits Settlements was increased from $335,000 to $1,476,000.

The credit balance with the continent of Oceania from 1913-14 to 1934-35 increased from $2,603,000 to $15,566,000, and with the continent of Africa from $3,459,000 to $9,189,000. From 1913-14 to 1934-35 the credit balance with Australia increased from $3,993,000 to $11,776,000; with British South Africa from $3,358,000 to $9,212,000; while the debit balance with New Zealand, amounting to $1,256,000 was converted during this period into a credit balance of $4,820,000.

Canada, during the fiscal year 1934-35, sold more goods to the continent of Europe than to any other continent, her sales amounting to $331,100,000, compared with $245,500,000 to the continent of North America; while her purchases from the North American continent amounted to $320,700,000, contrasted with purchases from the continent of Europe valued at $148,700,000. During 1934-35 the continents of Europe and North America combined took 87.3 per cent of the Dominion's total domestic exports, compared with 86.5 per cent in 1929-30. The proportion of the products exported to the continent of Europe in 1934-35 was 50.1 per cent, compared with 36.4 per cent in 1929-30; while the proportion sent to the continent of North America in 1934-35 was 37.2 per cent, compared with 50.1 per cent in 1929-30. From the fiscal year 1929-30 to 1934-35 the proportion of Canada's domestic exports to the United Kingdom increased from 25.2 to 41.5 per cent, and to other Europe decreased from 11.2 to 8.6 per cent; while the proportion exported to the United States during the same period decreased from 46.0 to 34.1 per cent, and to other North America, from 4.1 to 3.1 per cent.

The continents of Europe and North America in the fiscal year 1934-35 furnished Canada with 89.9 per cent of her imports, compared with 92.6 per cent in 1929-30. The proportion of goods received from the continent of Europe in 1934-35 was 28.5 per cent, compared with 22.8 per cent in 1929-30; while the proportion received from the continent of North America was 61.4 per cent in 1934-35, and 69.8 per cent, in 1929-30. From 1929-30 to 1934-35 the proportion of Canada's imports furnished by the United Kingdom increased from 15.2 to 21.4 per cent, and from other Europe decreased from 7.6 to 7.1 per cent; while the proportion furnished by the United States during the same interval decreased from 67.9 to 58.1 per cent, and from other North America increased from 1.9 to 3.3 per cent.

Canada's sales to every continent in the fiscal year 1934-35 were greater than for the years 1931-32, 1932-33, and 1933-34, except to the continent of North America in 1931-32, though less than for the years 1929-30 and 1930-31, except to Europe, Oceania and Africa in 1930-31; while her purchases from every continent in 1934-35 were greater than for the years 1932-33, and 1933-34, but less than for the years 1929-30, 1930-31 and 1931-32, except from Asia and Oceania in 1931-32, and Africa in 1929-30. From 1929-30 to 1934-35 Canada's imports from South America decreased from $31,900,000 to $15,200,000; from Asia, from $31,100,000 to $20,600,000; from Oceania, from $24,500,000 to $10,800,000, while from Africa the imports increased from $4,500,000 to $6,400,000; whereas domestic exports to south America decreased from $34,700,000 to $18,000,000; to Asia, from $63,100,000 to $30,400,000; to Oceania, from $36,100,000 to $26,300,000; and to Africa, from $17,600,000 to $15,600,000.

000, so that the increase in the value of these commodities in 1934-35 compared with 1933-34 totalled $76,600,000. Fifty-nine of the eighty-five commodities listed show increases, 1934-35 compared with 1933-34, and twenty-six decreases. Of the fifty-eight commodities for which there were quantity statistics, thirty-one had increases in both the quantity and the value; three had increases in the quantity but decreases in the value; nineteen had decreases in both the quantity and the value; while five had decreases in the quantity but increases in the value. Of the twenty-seven commodities for which there were no quantity statistics, being entered at value only, twenty-three had increases, and four decreases. An analysis also shows that of the fifty-eight commodities listed for which there were quantity statistics, thirty-one of these were exported at a higher average price per unit in 1934-35 than in 1933-34, and twenty-seven at a lower average export price. The total value of the thirty-one commodities exported for which the average export price was higher in 1934-35 than in 1933-34, amounted to $305,847,000, while the total value of the twenty-seven commodities for which the average export price was lower, amounted to $230,459,000. The value of the twenty-seven commodities for which there were no quantity statistics, was $87,219,000, twenty-three of which of a value of $84,-247,000 had increases, 1934-35 compared with 1933-34, and four of a value of $2,972,000, decreases.

The thirty-one commodities exported from Canada at a higher average export price in 1934-35 than in 1933-34 were:—Apples (fresh), barley, binder twine, bran and shorts, butter, coal, copper (ore and blister), fertilizers, fish, fruits (canned), hay, malt, milk (processed), oats, oatmeal and rolled oats, planks and boards, pulpwood, rolling mill products, rubber tires, rye, scrap iron, screenings (grain), shingles (wood), silver (ore and bullion), soda and compounds, timber (square), tobacco (raw), vegetables (canned), wheat, wheat flour and wood pulp. The twenty-seven commodities exported at a lower average export price were:—Abrasives (artificial, crude), acids, aluminium in bars, asbestos (raw), automobiles, cattle, cheese, copper in bars, rods, etc., electrical energy, ferro-manganese and ferro-silicon, gasoline and naphtha, hides (raw), lead, logs, newsprint paper, nickel, platinum in concentrates or other forms, poles (telegraph and telephone), potatoes, rubber footwear, socks and stockings, soap, sugar (refined), turnips, whiskey, wool (raw), and zinc.

Comparison of Value and Volume of Canada's Trade, 1934-35

In comparing trade for different periods, it is important to bear in mind that values are not necessarily a true measure of the quantity or volume of merchandise involved. Changes in the nominal values of imports and exports over a given period may be caused by variations in quantity, fluctuations in price, or by a combination of these factors. A preliminary compilation has been made comparing the value and volume of Canada's trade for the fiscal year 1934-35 with that for 1933-34. The results are set forth in the following table. The declared values by main groups are shown for 1933-34 and 1934-35, together with the values obtained by re-valuing the quantities of 1934-35 at the average import and export prices prevailing in 1933-34. This eliminates the element of price fluctuation and permits a comparison of the volume of trade in the two years. It will be noted that the declared value of imports increased from $433,799,000 in 1933-34 to $532,431,000 in 1934-35. If prices had not risen from the 1933-34 level, the value of imports would have increased nevertheless, to $494,247,000, an increase of $60,448,000, indicating an expansion in the volume of imports of 13.9 per cent.

Exports also increased substantially both in value and volume, rising from $579,343,000 to $659,900,000 in declared value, and to $630,836,000 after allowance for the element of rising prices, representing increases of 13.9 per cent in value, and 8.9 per cent in volume.

Of the nine main groups shown in imports, three (Agricultural and Vegetable Products, Non-Metallic Minerals and Products; and Miscellaneous Commodities) show increases in both unit values (i.e. prices), and volume; one (Fibres, Textiles and Textile Products) shows an increase in unit values, and a decrease in volume; five (Animals and Animal Products; Wood, Wood Products and Paper; Iron and Its Products; Non-Ferrous Metals and Products; and Chemicals and Allied Products) show increases in volume and declines in unit values. No group registered declines in both unit values and volume.

In exports, four of the nine main groups (Animals and Animal Products; Wood, Wood Products and Paper; Chemicals and Allied Products; and Miscellaneous Commodities) show increases in both unit prices and volume; one (Agricultural and Vegetable Products) shows increases in unit values, and declines in volume; three (Iron and Its Products; Non-Ferrous Metals and Their Products; and Non-Metallic Minerals and Their Products) show increases in volume, and declines in unit prices; one (Fibres, Textiles and Textile Products) shows a decline in both unit values and volume.

With reference to declared value, which is a product of unit value and volume, all main groups in imports show increases in 1934-35; and in exports all groups show increases except Fibres, Textiles and Textile Products, which shows a slight decline.

The statistics in the following table show the percentage increase or decrease in Canada's trade by main groups for each of the fiscal years 1932-33, 1933-34 and 1934-35, compared with 1931-32, 1932-33 and 1933-34, respectively.

It will be noted that the reversal of the downward trend in 1933-34 is confirmed in 1934-35. It is noteworthy that the improvement in 1934-35 over 1933-34 is the result of both higher prices and greater volume, while the improvement of 1933-34 over 1932-33 was due almost entirely to greater volume.

Canada's Trade via the United States, 1934-35

Canada's imports from overseas countries via the United States have steadily declined in recent years, especially those from the British Empire. This decrease has resulted from:—(1) general propaganda to utilize Canada sea and river ports; (2) additional concessions to goods imported under the British Preferential tariff if imported direct; and (3) provision in trade treaties and agreements negotiated with foreign countries that goods must be imported direct in order to obtain the full benefits of special rates of duty.

There was a decrease in imports from overseas countries via the United States during the fiscal year 1934-35 compared with similar imports in 1930-31, of $3,598,056; the decrease in the imports from the British Empire amounting to $283,387, and from foreign countries to $3,314,669. The statistics in the following table provide an analysis of this feature of Canada's import trade for the last five fiscal years:—

The exports from Canada to overseas countries via the United States show a decided decrease during recent years, although there was an upward trend in the fiscal year 1934-35. The proportions of Canada's exports via the United States for the fiscal year 1930-31 amounted to 27.49 per cent; 1931-32, 18.72 per cent; 1932-33, 14.18 per cent; 1933-34, 14.41 per cent; and 1934-35, 17.28 per cent. From 1930-31 to 1934-35 the proportion of the Dominion's exports to the United Kingdom via the United States decreased from 36.43 per cent to 15.79 per cent; while the exports to other Empire countries via the United States increased during this period from 17.31 to 18.64 per cent; and to foreign countries, from 19.78 per cent to 20.70 per cent. When adjustments are made for the re-routing of Canadian barley, oats, rye and wheat from United States lake ports, via the St. Lawrence route for ocean shipment at Canadian sea or river ports, chiefly Montreal, it will be found that the proportions of Canada's exports to overseas countries via the United States will be considerably decreased and those via Canadian sea or river ports increased by a similar amount. The total value of commodities exported to overseas countries via the United States in 1934-35 was $48,510,821 less than for the fiscal year 1930-31. Comparisons for the past five years were as follows:—

The statistics in the following table giving "Principal Commodities Exported from Canada to Overseas Countries via the United States and via Canadian Sea or River Ports, 1934-35," illustrate the details of this movement. The 43 commodities listed are representative of the Dominion's exports to overseas countries, as they comprise 82.1 per cent of the total exports to overseas countries; and they also represent 93.1 per cent of all goods shipped to overseas countries via the United States, and 79.6 per cent of those going via Canadian sea or river ports. During the past few years a considerable amount of Canadian grain exported from Fort William and Port Arthur to overseas countries via the United States has been re-routed from United States lake ports for shipment, chiefly at Montreal. The amount of Canadian grain re-routed for export at Montreal or other Canadian ports during the calendar years 1927 to 1934 was:—

Grains	1927	1928	1929	1930	1931	1932	1933	1934

This re-routed Canadian grain was not recorded as an export at Montreal or other Canadian ports because it had already been recorded as an export at Fort William or Port Arthur. It was recorded, however, as "intransit" grain from the United States via the Port of Montreal or other Canadian ports. In order to obtain the actual amount of barley, oats, rye and wheat shipped via Canadian sea or river ports, this re-routed Canadian grain should be added to the quantity already thus recorded and deducted from the quantity shown as exported via United States channels. When adjustments are made the actual quantities of barley, oats, rye and wheat exported to overseas countries via the United States (indirect) and via Canadian sea or river ports (direct) during the fiscal years 1930-31 to 1934-35 were:—

Canada's Exports Compared With the Exports of Other Countries, 1934

Canada, in the production and exportation of many staple products, ranks high amongst the leading nations of the world. In the production of asbestos, nickel, and newsprint paper in 1934 she led the world; in production of copper, gold, and zinc, she occupied third place; fourth place in the production of lead; fifth place in the production of automobiles; and sixth place in the production of wheat. In the production of wheat Canada, in 1934, was in sixth position with 275,849,000 bushels, being exceeded by Russia with 1,117,358,000 bushels; China (production not available for 1934); the United States with 496,469,000 bushels; British India with 349,365,000 bushels; and France with 330,688,000 bushels. Argentina, however, occupied seventh position with a production of 238,316,000 bushels; and Italy eighth with a production of 232,686,000 bushels. In export trade the Dominion led the world in 1934 in the exports of asbestos, nickel, and newsprint paper; occupied second place in the exports of wheat and wheat flour, Argentina being in first position in the exports of wheat, and Australia first place in the exports of wheat flour, and the United States in third place. Canada occupied third place in the exports of automobiles, being exceeded by the United States and the United Kingdom, and fourth place in the exports of rubber tires and wood pulp, being exceeded in exports of rubber tires by the United Kingdom, the United States, and France, and in exports of wood pulp by Sweden, Finland, and Norway. The exports of these staple products from Canada make up about 50 per cent of the Dominion's total domestic exports. Canada also ranks high in the world's exports of many other staple products such as lumber and timber, fish, copper, barley, cheese, raw furs, whiskey, meats, farm implements, cattle, raw gold, silver, rye, oats, rubber footwear, leather and hides.

Automobile Statistics, 1934

The growth of the automobile industry is one of the most remarkable industrial developments of the twentieth century. Thirty years ago the automobile was emerging from the experimental stage, and the world production consisted of a few thousand cars. In 1929 the estimated world output was 6,277,451 cars, although in 1934 the output has declined to 3,728,968 cars (in 1933 the total output was 2,675,619 cars). Canada has made great progress in recent years in the production and exportation of automobiles. In production Canada, in 1934, occupied fifth place, with 116,852 cars, made up of 92,647 passenger cars and 24,205 motor trucks and buses; while in 1929 her production was 262,625 cars. The United States occupied first place in 1934 with an output of 2,753,111 cars, of which 2,177,919 were passenger cars, and 575,192 were motor trucks and buses. The United Kingdom occupied second place with an output of 347,856 cars; France third place, with 201,644 cars; and Germany fourth place, with 173,014 cars. In 1917 Canada's production was 93,810 automobiles, although from 1904 to 1916 the total production was only 135,000 cars. Canada's exports of automobiles for the fiscal year 1905-06, the first year for which export statistics of automobiles are available, were only 67 cars, valued at $63,329. In the fiscal year 1910-11 the exports were 627 cars valued at $595,746. Ten years later (fiscal year 1920-21) the exports had increased to 19,910 cars, valued at $13,979,121, made up of passenger cars, 15,620, of a value of $11,376,268, and motor trucks, 4,290, of a value of $2,602,853; while for the fiscal year 1934-35 the exports were 48,820 cars, valued at $19,192,170, consisting of 36,083 passenger cars, valued at $14,516,269, and 12,737 motor trucks, valued at $4,675,901. Five years ago (fiscal year 1928-29) Canada's exports of automobiles consisted of 103,566 cars, valued at $43,059,733, the passenger cars amounting to 72,108, of a value of $31,264,999, and the motor trucks to 31,458, of a value of $11,794,734.

From the statistics in the following table re "Exports of Automobiles from Principal Automobile Producing Countries of the World", it will be noted that Canada occupied third place in exports of automobiles for the calendar year 1934, with 43,368 cars, the United States being in first place by a considerable margin, with 237,880 cars; the United Kingdom in second place with 58,679 cars; and France in fourth place with 22,907 cars; Germany in fifth place with 13,423 cars; and Italy in sixth place with 9,434 cars.

Wheat Exports, 1934

The rapid increase in the production of wheat in the Prairie Provinces during the past decade and a half or so, and the practical elimination of Russia, Roumania and other wheat producing countries of Europe as leading factors in the grain trade up to four years ago, have had the effect of establishing Canada, up to that time, in second place as a wheat producing country, the first place being held by the United States. During the past five years, however, Russia has enormously increased her production of wheat, so that in 1928 and 1929 (according to latest information) she occupied second position in wheat production, while Canada during 1929, with the falling off in her wheat yield, moved down to fifth position in the world's wheat production. In 1934 Canada was in sixth position with 275,849,000 bushels; being exceeded by Russia, China, the United States, British India and France.

With reference to exports of wheat for the calendar year 1934, Argentina occupied first place, with an export of 176,090,000 bushels; Canada second position with 167,919,000 bushels; Australia third place with 65,542,000 bushels; Algeria in fourth place with 19,680,000 bushels; United States in fifth place with 16,969,000 bushels and Hungary in sixth place with 16,747,000 bushels. Canada's exports of wheat for the past ten years, as also for the year 1913, have exceeded those of the United States. The Dominion's exports of wheat for the fiscal year 1899-1900 amounted to only 16,845,000 bushels; in 1909-10 they totalled 49,741,000 bushels; in 1919-20, 77,978,000 bushels; in 1930-31, 217,243,000 bushels; in 1931-32, 191,316,000 bushels; in 1932-33 they amounted to 239,373,000 bushels; in 1933-34 to 175,534,000 bushels and in 1934-35 to 165,702,000 bushels. It will be noted by reference to the statistics in the following table showing "Exports of Wheat from Principal Wheat-Producing Countries of the World" that in 1913 Canada occupied first place as a wheat-exporting country, with an export of 129,950,000 bushels; Russia being in second place with an export of 121,953,000 bushels; Argentina in third place with 103,300,000 bushels; and the United States in fourth place with 99,509,000 bushels. In 1934 the order had been changed considerably, Argentina being in first place, Canada in second, Australia in third place, Algeria in fourth place, United States in fifth place and Hungary in sixth place. Canada having occupied first place in wheat exports for some years yielded first place to Argentina in 1929 and in 1934. Wheat occupies first place among Canada's exports.

Wheat Flour Exports, 1934

Canada, since the opening of the twentieth century, has made remarkable progress in the flour-milling industry. This expansion in her flour production is reflected in the increase in the Dominion's flour exports. Today Canada ranks second amongst the countries of the world as a wheat-flour exporting country, the first being occupied by Australia, and third place by the United States. Canada's exports of wheat flour for the fiscal year 1899-1900 amounted to 768,000 barrels, ten years later they totalled 3,064,000 barrels; in 1919-20 they amounted to 8,863,000 barrels; in 1931-32 to 5,414,000 barrels; in 1932-33 to 5,268,000 barrels; in 1933-34 to 5,620,000 barrels; and in 1934-35 to 4,936,827 barrels, compared with 11,267,000 barrels in the fiscal year 1928-29.

It will be noted from the statistics in the following table showing "Exports of Wheat Flour from Principal Flour-Producing Countries of the World" that in 1934 Canada was in second place with an export of 5,054,000 barrels; Australia being in first place with an export of 6,349,000 barrels; the United States in third place with 4,163,000 barrels; Japan in fourth place with 2,988,000 barrels; France in fifth place with 2,233,000 barrels; Italy in sixth place with 2,061,000 barrels and the United Kingdom in seventh place with 1,653,000 barrels. The exports of wheat flour from the United States in 1934 were 8,115,000 barrels less than in 1913; from Canada 160,000 barrels greater, and from Australia, 4,087,000 barrels greater. From 1930 to 1934 the wheat flour exports of the United States decreased from 13,060,000 to 4,163,000 barrels; from Canada, from 7,515,000 to 5,054,000 barrels; while the wheat flour exports from Australia during the same period increased from 4,892,000 to 6,349,000 barrels.

Newsprint Paper Production, 1934

Canada, according to statistics issued by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association and from other sources, led the world as a producer of newsprint paper during the calendar year 1934, as also for the years 1926 to 1933. The statistics in the following table showing "Production of Newsprint Paper for Principal Paper-Producing Countries of the World" indicate that for 1934 Canada's production of newsprint paper amounted to 5,198,000,000 pounds; the United States being second with 1,914,000,000 pounds; the United Kingdom, third with 1,880,000,000 pounds; and Germany, fourth with 892,000,000 pounds. The total production of newsprint paper for the world in 1934 was estimated at about 14,684,000,000 pounds, of which Canada, Newfoundland and the United States supplied 52.7 per cent, and Canada alone about 35.4 per cent. The estimated production of newsprint paper for eighteen of the leading paper-producing countries of the world was: 1926, 12,092,000,000 pounds; 1927, 12,706,000,000 pounds; 1928, 13,235,000,000 pounds; 1929, 14,641,000,000 pounds; in 1930, 14,230,000,000 pounds; in 1931, 13,244,000,000 pounds; in 1932, 12,550,000,000 pounds; in 1933, 12,728,000,000 pounds; and in 1934, 14,534,000,000 pounds.

Newsprint Paper Exports, 1934

Canada, during the calendar year 1934, occupied first place by a very wide margin among the world's chief exporters of newsprint paper, her exports being over eight times as great as those for Finland, her next competitor. From the statistics in the following table giving "Exports of Newsprint Paper from Principal Paper-Producing Countries of the World".. it will be observed, that even in 1913

Canada led the world as an exporter of newsprint paper, Norway being in second place, the United Kingdom in third, and Finland in fourth place. In 1934 the total quantity of newsprint paper exported by the thirteen leading paper-exporting countries was 7,152,404,000 pounds, compared with 6,220,947,000 pounds in 1927, 6,896,475,000 pounds in 1928, 7,811,572,000 pounds in 1929, 7,378,458,000 pounds in 1930, 6,568,577,000 pounds in 1931, 6,052,077,000 pounds in 1932 and 5,950,764,000 pounds in 1933; of which amount Canada in 1927 contributed 3,763,731,000 pounds or 60.5 per cent; in 1928, 4,413,175,000 pounds or 63.9 per cent; in 1929, 5,030,990,000 pounds or 64.4 per cent; in 1930, 4,665,019,000 pounds or 63.2 per cent; in 1931, 4,016,482,000 pounds or 61.3 per cent; in 1932, 3,553,528,000 pounds or 58.7 per cent; in 1933, 3,676,210,000 pounds or 61.7 per cent; and in 1934, 4,828,547,000 pounds or 67.5 per cent. Canada's exports of newsprint paper, therefore, exceeded the exports of the other twelve leading countries combined by 1,306,515,000 pounds in 1927; 1,929,875,000 pounds in 1928; 2,250,408,000 pounds in 1929; 1,951,580,000 pounds in 1930; 1,464,387,000 pounds in 1931; 1,054,979,000 pounds in 1932; 1,401,656,000 pounds in 1933 and 2,504,690,000 pounds in 1934. Canada's exports of newsprint paper are greater than those of the rest of the world combined.

Wood Pulp Exports, 1934

Canada's great advance as a newsprint paper producer and exporter since the opening of the present century, has been based on the great expansion of her wood pulp industry. Canada's exports of wood pulp during the fiscal year 1889-90 were valued at only $168,000, and in 1899-1900 at $1,816,000. In the year 1909-10 the Dominion's exports of wood pulp amounted to 590,346,000 pounds, value $5,205,000; in 1919-20, or ten years later, they amounted to 1,538,958,000 pounds, value $41,383,000; and in 1934-35 to 1,224,954,000 pounds, value $25,869,000. The decrease in the exports of wood pulp from Canada from 1919-20 to 1934-35, is chiefly due to the fact that year by year larger quantities of wood pulp are used in the Canadian paper industry in the manufacture of newsprint and other forms of paper, and consequently the product is being exported in a manufactured form (paper) rather than in a semi-manufactured form (wood pulp). According to statistics in the following table giving "Exports of Wood Pulp from Principal Wood Pulp-Producing Countries of the World", Canada, during the calendar year 1934, occupied fourth position among the world's exporters of wood pulp, with an export of 1,211,282,000 pounds; the first place being held by Sweden, with an export of 5,133,339,000 pounds; Finland was in second place with an export of 3,105,193,000 pounds; while Norway was in third place with an export of 2,098,743,000 pounds. In exports of chemical pulp in 1934 Canada occupied third position, with an export of 962,324,000 pounds, the first place being held by Sweden, by a wide margin, with an export of 3,814,080,000 pounds; and second placebyFinland with an export of 2,133,526,000 pounds. With regard to exports of mechanical pulp, Canada occupied fourth place in 1934 with an export of 248,958,000 pounds; the first, second and third places being held by Norway with 1,534,537,000 pounds; Sweden, 1,319,259,000 pounds; and Finland, 971,667,000 pounds. In 1913 Sweden occupied first place as an exporter of wood pulp, Norway second place, and Canada third.

Agriculture

To get a proper perspective of Canadian agriculture one has to consider the value of agricultural production in relation to Canadian industry as a whole. With an estimated gross revenue of $931,347,-

000 for 1934, agriculture was the outstanding contributor to national wealth among the primary industries, and exceeded only by manufactures in the industries of secondary production.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates the gross agricultural revenue of Canada at $931,347,000 for 1934 as compared with $802,946,000, the revised estimate for 1933. This represents an increase of $128,401,000, or 16 per cent. There are increases in the revenue from all items, the greatest increases being shown in field crops, farm animals and dairy products. The agricultural revenue of the prairie provinces was estimated at $350,314,000 in 1934, compared with $292,484,000 for the previous year.

The total area sown to the principal field crops in 1935 was estimated at 56,923,960 acres, a decrease of 66 million acres as compared with 1934.

With a return of better prices for field crops, Canada will be in a position to take advantage of the improvement, the difficult conditions of the past four years not having seriously affected the continuity of production.

The per capita consumption of eggs increased from 16.8 dozens in 1920 to 22.31 dozens in 1934. Total consumption of eggs in Canada in 1934 amounted to 241,743,267 dozens. The per capita consumption of butter in 1921 was 25.79 pounds; in 1934 it reached 30.92, cheese used in 1921 amounted to 2.51 pounds per capita and last year 3.64 pounds. In 1921 the per capita consumption of ice cream was 4.96 pints, in 1931 it had grown to 6.32 pints and in 1932 and 1933, decreased to 4.71 pints and 4.28 pints respectively.

The estimated gross agricultural wealth of Canada in 1934 as estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics amounted to over 5 billion dollars, made up as follows:

Lands	$2,226,366,000
Buildings	1,342,924,000
Equipment	650,664,000
Livestock	413,837,000
Poultry	35,398,000
Fur Farm Animals	7,621,000
Agricultural Production	931,347,000
Total	$5,608,157,000

This figure represents a decrease in agricultural wealth from 1924 of $1,900,100,000 and a decrease of $2,444,364,000 from the high of 1928. The increase over 1933 amounted to $44,367,000.

The distribution of agricultural wealth in Canada by provinces is interesting in that it follows closely the distribution of population, as is shown by the following figures:

PROVINCE	Estimated Agricultural Wealth	Estimated Agricultural Revenue
Prince Edward Island	$ 69,196,000	$ 12,979,000
Nova Scotia	126,378,000	26,525,000
New Brunswick	122,848,000	24,611,000
Quebec	965,583,000	180,257,000
Ontario	1,586,015,000	300,348,000

Saskatchewan	1,235,180,000	129,986,000
Alberta	882,725,000	148,593,000
British Columbia	188,899,000	36,313,000
Total	$5,608,157,000	$931,347,000

From these figures it will be apparent that it took $6.02 of investment to produce $1.00 of revenue in the agricultural industry last year.

The relative standing of the several sources of Canadian agricultural revenue in 1932, 1933 and 1934 are shown in the following table (in thousands of dollars):

	1932	1933	1934
Field crops	$452,527	$453,598	$544,975

From a financial standpoint, despite depressions in prices, the Canadian farming industry appears to be on an essentially sound basis.

Under the Dairy Industry Act administered by the Federal Department of Agriculture, all butter and cheese for export must be graded, as a result of which Canadian dairy products have gained a reputation second to none on the export market. In fact Canadian cheese commands a premium over all other cheese imported into the markets of the United Kingdom.

The total value of field crops in Canada in 1935 is estimated at $506,613,900 as compared with $549,079,600 in 1934, a decrease of 7.7 per cent. The preliminary estimate places the Canadian apple crop for 1935 at 4,432,700 barrels. This is 175,300 barrels more than the 1934 crop, and approximately 296,600 barrels above the average for the last five years.

The yield of potatoes for 1935 amounted to 38,670,000 cwt., a decrease of 20 per cent from last year's production, but higher prices gave a value 25 per cent more than in 1934.

The increased popularity of Canadian fruit and vegetables, both fresh and canned, on the export market is due essentially to the grading and inspection service and regulations provided by the Government.

Fisheries

The product of the Canadian fisheries in 1934 had a total value of $34,022,323, compared with $27,496,946 in 1933 and $25,957,109 in 1932. These figures represent the value of the fish as marketed, whether sold for consumption fresh, or as prepared in the various forms, i.e., canned, smoked, dried, etc. The increase over 1933 was due to higher prices as well as to the larger quantity of fish caught. The catch of salmon, which is the chief item in the Canadian fisheries, increased by over 240,000 cwt. Most of the other principal kinds of fish also show increases in quantity of catch, although the lobster fishery, which is second to the salmon in importance, records a decrease from 1933 of 12,924 cwt., while herring also showed a decrease. Among the sea fish, the principal kinds used fresh are salmon, halibut, lobster, haddock, mackerel, smelts, swordfish and herring. In the inland fisheries, practically all of the catch is marketed for consumption fresh, and whitefish, trout and pickerel are the principal kinds. The chief items under the head of prepared fish in 1934, in order of value, were: canned salmon, $10,438,258; canned lobster, $2,380,674; dried cod, $1,462,450; canned sardines, $865,842; green-salted cod, $510,163, and mild cured salmon, $497,811.

Imports

The value of fish imported into Canada during the calendar year 1934 was $2,122,748, an increase over the preceding year of $428,423, or 25 per cent. The principal items of import are canned sardines —chiefly from Norway—and oysters from the United States.

Exports

Canada's export trade in fish and fishery products during the year 1934 had a total value of $22,497,135, compared with $20,223,610 in 1933. The largest single items were canned salmon, valued at $5,906,424, canned lobster at $2,499,372, dried cod at $1,956,004, fresh lobster at $1,550,452, and fresh and frozen salmon at $1,187,727. The principal countries of destination for Canadian fish exports in 1934 were the United States ($9,283,723), the United Kingdom ($5,542,276), Australia ($1,474,938), and France ($1,070,786). Altogether there were 85 countries to which Canadian fish and fishery products were exported in 1934.

Forest Resources

In Canada there are approximately one hundred and sixty different species and varieties of plants reaching tree size. Only thirty-one of these are coniferous, but their wood forms 80 per cent. of the standing timber and 95 per cent. of the sawn timber. While the actual number of species of deciduous-leaved trees seems large in comparison to their commercial importance, out of a total of some ninety species and varieties only four or five are worthy of comparison with the conifers.

Of the total area under forest at the present time, amounting to 1,153,005 square miles, about 379,000 square miles carries merchantable timber, and 413,000 square miles carries young growth which if protected from fire and other damage will eventually produce merchantable timber. All this area is so situated as to be commercially exploitable at present. The remaining 361,000 square miles is considered as non-productive or unprofitable to operate under present conditions, although most of it will undoubtedly become commercially exploitable in the near future. In round figures some ninety per cent. of Canada's forest area is still owned by the state.

Estimate of Total Stand of Timber of Merchantable Size in Canada, by Regions

	(In Million Cubic Feet)
Eastern Provinces	117,281	33,275	150,556

Total	217,776	49,957	267,733

Forest Depletion

It has been estimated that Canada's total forest production in 1933 involved the cutting of 2,027,713,767 cubic feet of standing timber. This constitutes only the annual depletion for use and to it must be added the volume of material annually destroyed by fire, which exceeds 230,000,000 cubic feet of merchantable timber and the young growth on 550,000 acres. Insects and fungi destroy annually at least 700,000,000 cubic feet. The latest available estimate places Canada's forest resources at 267,733 million cubic feet of standing timber. There is a steady increase in volume taking place in all healthy stands of timber due to annual growth; this can be stimulated by the application of scientific forest management. It is now a profitable investment to plant trees in Canada under certain conditions.

Production

The production of sawn timber in Canada reached its maximum in 1911 with a reported cut of 4,918,202 M. ft.b.m. The 1933 production represents an increase of 8.2 per cent. in quantity from 1932. The products of the group of industries under sawmill operations are compared for 1932 and 1933 in the preceding table.

Fur Trade

Great changes have come over the fur trade in recent years. The railway has revolutionized conditions wherever its influence reaches. Vessels now ply the larger lakes and rivers, and the aeroplane is used for the transportation of furs from the more inaccessible districts. Competition has increased and new territory is eagerly sought as in the days prior to 1821. This increase in trapping and the improved methods of capture, together with the advance of lumbering, mining and agricultural settlement, have driven fur-bearing animals farther and farther afield, and if government authority had not intervened there would inevitably have followed a general depletion of Canada's fur resources, and for some species, extinction. To meet the situation, the provinces, all of which have jurisdiction in matters affecting the fur-bearing animals and game in their respective provinces, have enacted laws to regulate the capture of the animals and to provide for closed seasons during certain periods of each year, and are working in co-operation to obtain a more complete understanding of wild life conditions in the Dominion. Conservation has been made a special object of policy of the Dominion Government, also, through the organization in 1916 of the Advisory Board on Wild Life Protection, to co-ordinate the efforts of various departments, in matters relating to the conservation of the wild, life resources of Canada.

Fur farming is playing an increasingly important part in the fur trade of Canada, the value of pelts of ranch-bred animals now representing about 32 per cent of the total annual value of the raw fur production of the Dominion.

In the early days of the fur trade it was the practice for trappers to keep foxes caught out of season alive until the fur was prime and from this custom has arisen the modern industry of fur farming. The term "fur farming" has been regarded as nearly synonymous with that of "fox farming", as attention has been directed chiefly to the silver fox. After numerous attempts to domesticate the fox, success came about the year 1878 when a litter was raised on a farm near Tignish, Prince Edward Island. The silver fox is a colour phase of the common red fox, the colour being finally fixed through experiments in breeding carried on by the pioneer fox farmers. Although the silver fox is of chief importance, other kinds of wild fur bearing animals are being raised successfully—mink, raccoon, fisher, marten, fitch, muskrat and beaver. The mink, in particular, is easily domesticated, and thrives in captivity if care is exercised in the selection of environment and proper attention given to its requirements in the matter of diet. There are now 624 mink farms distributed among the various provinces, and mink farming in Canada may be regarded as permanently established. Muskrat farming, also, is a branch of the industry which is receiving attention, and numerous areas of marsh land are being utilized for raising this fur bearer. The farming of muskrats consists chiefly of making provision for an adequate food supply for the animals and in giving protection from their natural enemies, i.e., hawks, owls, etc. On many of the muskrat farms the areas have been enclosed with strong wire fencing. In 1934 the total number of fur farms of all kinds was 7,019 comprising 6,083 fox farms, 624 mink farms, 182 raccoon farms, and 130 farms under various other classifications.

Minerals

Mining ranks second among Canada's primary industries, with mineral products becoming more and more a governing factor in commerce and manufacturing. During 1934 Canada held the following place in world production: first in nickel, platinum metals and asbestos, second in radium and zinc, third in gold, silver and copper and fourth in lead. The premier position in the production of nickel is not challenged; asbestos retains its major position and Canada is assured a prominent place among the principal mineral producing countries of the world.

Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia are the three leading mineral producing provinces of the Dominion, though Nova Scotia and Alberta are the two largest coal-producing provinces. In 1934, Ontario produced 52.3 per cent of the total value of the mineral output for Canada; Quebec, 11.2 per cent; and British Columbia, 14.8 per cent. Alberta contributed 7.3 per cent; Nova Scotia, 8.4 per cent, and the remainder was made up of production from Manitoba, New Brunswick, Saskatchewan, and the Yukon and North West Territories.

The recovery indicated during 1934 extended, on the whole, to the five economic areas, and to most of the industrial groups included in the monthly survey. Manufacturing showed uninterrupted expansion from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 ; during these nine months, the index of employment gained by 18 p.c. Despite seasonal curtailment in the last two months, the index in this group at the end of the year was higher by 14.1 p.c. than on Jan. 1, 1934 and by 8.2 p.c. than on Dec. 1, 1933. Logging, mining, construction, transportation, services and trade showed considerable gains during 1934; in all of these except transportation, the indexes also averaged higher during the year than in 1932.

The record outputs of gold, copper, nickel and zinc are the principal features of 1935.

Manufactures

According to the latest census available, Canada possessed, in 1932, 24,544 manufacturing establishments with capital investments in lands, buildings, equipment, etc., amounting to $4,741,255,610 employing 495,398 persons with salaries and wages amounting to $505,883,323. They consumed $955,968,683 worth of raw materials (not including fuel) and produced goods to the value of $2,126,194,555.

Water Power

Canada's rich endowment in water power resources is the outflow of a fresh water area more than two and a half times the combined water and land area of Great Britain. The abundance and wide distribution of these resources and of their development is shown in Table I below. The water power resources included in this tabulation provide for a total commercial installation of about 43,700,000 h.p. (over five and one-half times the installation at Jan. 1, 1936), seasonal shortages being provided for by water storage, by interconnection with plants operating under different load and water conditions or by fuel auxiliary plants.

Canada's total hydraulic installation of 7,909,115 h.p. is divided in Table 2 below according to the purpose of the various developments. Approximately 98 per cent. of the electricity sold by central electric stations for power purposes is produced by water power and this combined with the water power installations maintained by the manufacturing industries results in more than 80 per cent. of Canada's industrial power equipment being operated hydraulically.

The total capital investment represented by the present hydraulic installation of 7,909,115 h.p. has been conservatively estimated at $1,890,000,000, while a similarly conservative estimate indicates that the use of water power effected a saving of coal (most of which would have been imported) during 1935 of 19,000,000 tons.

Column 2 includes only hydro-electric stations which develop power for sale.

Column 3 includes only water power ACTUALLY DEVELOPED by pulp and paper companies. In addition to this turbine installation pulp and paper companies have motor equipment for operation by hydro-electricity purchased from the central electric stations totalled in Column 2, aggregating more than 1,029,000 h.p., making a total of more than 1,634,000 h.p. actually developed for the manufacture of pulp and paper. Large amounts of electricity are also purchased for use in electric boilers.

Column 4 includes only water power actually developed in connection with industries other than the central electric station and pulp and paper industries. These industries also purchase power from the central electric stations totalled in Column 2.

Column 5 totals all water wheels and hydraulic turbines installed in Canada.

Column 6 shows the population of Canada at June 1, 1935, as estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Column 7 averages the developed water power per 1,000 population.

Employment

The variations in employment afford one of the best indices to the current business situation. As a measure of these fluctuations, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics maintains a monthly record of the employment afforded by some 9,200 firms throughout Canada, representing practically all lines of industry except agriculture, fishing, hunting, domestic and professional services and highly specialized business, such as banking, insurance, etc. During 1935, the staffs of the reporting employers varied from 874,556 at April 1 to 1,012,103 at November 1, averaging 933,085 in the twelve months, while industrial activity in recent years has generally been at a low level, considerable improvement was indicated during 1935, resulting in a higher average of employment than in any other year since 1931; the index (based on the 1926 average as 100) averaged 99.4, compared with 96.0 in 1934, and 83.4 in 1933.

The recovery indicated during 1935 extended, on the whole, to the five economic areas, to the leading industrial cities, and to most of the industrial groups included in the monthly survey. Manufacturing showed uninterrupted expansion from January 1 to November 1; during these ten months, the index of factory employment gained by 18.4 per cent. Despite seasonal curtailment at December 1, the index in this group at the end of the year was higher by sixteen per cent than at January 1, 1935, and by 11.1 per cent than at December 1, 1934. Logging, mining, transportation, services and trade showed gains during 1935 as compared with 1934; in these industries the indexes also averaged higher during the year than in 1933.

Some Yardsticks for Measuring Ability to Export

It is not to be assumed that the information in the following synopsis is complete in all detail since in actual exporting complications arise which cannot be anticipated.

In the industrial world, how often have you heard the question asked, "How can I export without a direct loss on every sale?" It is the consideration of this problem that will be dealt with in a general way in this article.

To start at the logical beginning, the first and foremost problem is to know your costs. Not the costs as you know them for the general domestic business and which are used as the basis for establishing domestic prices, but rather your "export costs," which are entirely different.

Let it be assumed here that the problem of entering into the export market arises after an industry has been firmly established to do business in its own country. This is fundamentally sound. It would not be considered entirely safe practice to work up a business which would have to rely entirely on a certain definite proportion of export business.

When a company is established, the primary desire of the management is to set Canadian selling prices so that there shall be the desired return on the capital invested arising out of the business to be secured in the home markets. This practice having been definitely established, it follows that export business might be considered in the light of extra volume which will in no way interfere with the domestic set up.

If this point of considering export business as an unexpected windfall and entirely additional to what has been planned to make the necessary return on the capital investment is kept in mind, it will then follow that export selling prices can be lower than those used in the home market and yet can show an economic profit as well.

Difference in Export Costs

It is true that if the financial statement is studied, an amazing number of red figures would be in evidence provided the same costs were used for both domestic and export sales. It is also true that there is the criticism of the domestic buyer that he has to pay a higher price for his product than he can perhaps buy it for in some export country. There are several answers to this reaction. If there were no exports the prices paid would remain as they always had been. Why then change the price just because exports happened to come along? The money received from exports makes the home country wealthier and part of this added wealth will find its way back, indirectly, into the pockets of the critics.

We, in Canada, are passing through that stage of re-adjustment occasioned by reducing export markets. To some, this experience has proved all but disastrous. It may have been that in a large number of cases the effect of the large export volume caused the domestic prices to be reduced and when the export markets shrivelled up, it became impossible to increase the prices to take care of this loss of volume.

In considering export costs, there are many angles to be reckoned with. In view of what has been already discussed in the preceding paragraphs, it might be as well to see how the costs would be affected by just considering exports as unforeseen added volume. The expenses of an industrial organization may be broken down into several components such as: (1) Fixed Expenses, (2) Non-controllable Expenses, (3) Variable Expenses.

Analysis of Expenses

In the first group come such items as depreciation, taxes, insurance and expenses of a like nature. In the second group come the salaries and expenses of those permanently required to carry on the business. These expenses are very much the same as fixed charges except that they can fluctuate, but only within a narrow range. In this group would come the salaries of executives, superintendents, foremen, clerical staff, purchasing, material and accounting departments, etc.

The expenses of these two groups are constantly there. Therefore, whether the volume is large or small, these expenses go on just the same.

Referring to the last group, namely the Variable Expenses, these rise and fall in direct proportion to the productive effort—such items as factory supplies, material handlers' wages, electricity and water consumed and many other items required only when applied directly to the manufacturing operations.

Reviewing these various cost items, it is discovered that a basis can be arrived at which can be used as a yardstick for setting export selling prices. Tabulation of these cost factors would appear as follows:

(1) Material Costs
(2) Direct Labor Costs
(3) Variable Costs
(4) Total Basis for Establishing Export Selling Prices
(5) Non-controllable Expenses
(6) Fixed Charges
(7) Total Domestic Cost Used for Establishing Domestic Selling Prices.

From the above illustration it would appear that a selling price established for export that would be greater than the total called for under item Number Four above would create an economic profit. This is the first step toward arriving at a basis for figuring export prices.

Origin of Materials

The next step to take is to examine the materials that are used for fabrication. Some are probably imported. Some are purchased in Canada. But do not stop there—trace the materials right back to their origin. They had to come out of the ground, and if the ground was Canada, that is as far as the quest for information leads, but if the search through the various stages shows that the basic materials have been imported, then this material—indirect though it may be—is as much an imported product as if it were imported direct by the exporting manufacturer.

Drawback Regulations

There are "Drawback Regulations" which are administered by the Canadian Government's Department of National Revenue or Customs Drawback Division. These regulations provide for the return of ninety-nine per cent. of all duties paid, upon satisfactory proof being submitted that the finished or semi-finished fabricated articles have been exported from the country. By taking advantage of this situation the duties that are paid on articles used in a completed or semi-completed article are practically all recovered, and, furthermore, all those indirect duties such as are in the various parts purchased from a Canadian supplier are also recoverable. These sources of reducing costs should not be overlooked. The results are often surprising, sometimes leading to the meeting of export prices which had been considered untouchable.

In a previous paragraph attention was drawn to the basis for establishing export selling prices. This is again emphasized, for any manufacturer in Canada who is supplying another manufacturer who in turn is actually exporting is as much an exporter as the exporter of the finished product. Therefore, in purchasing Canadian materials, the exporter has a right to expect that his supplier will give him a better export price than that given for his domestic business. It is "found" business. It cannot be overlooked that in bidding for export markets the competition of the whole world is invited. Prices must be right. If the co-operation of the suppliers is not given, the possibilities for exporting by the ultimate exporter becomes very poor. If, however, he is willing to look for exports on the basis previously outlined, every one of his associates will become partners with him in his foreign trade venture.

Comparison of Costs

Reviewing the various points that have been covered thus far, we might just see what an export cost would look like compared with a domestic cost. We will assume that an article costs one hundred dollars, which will be broken down into material, labor and all other expenses. We will also assume that thirty-five dollars is from domestic purchasers and thirty-five dollars represents direct importations. The first set up will be as follows:

Duty on directly imported materials	$12.25
Directly imported materials	35.00
	$47.25
3% Excise Tax	1.42
		$48.67
Domestic purchases		35.00
Freight on materials		1.33
Direct labor		5.00
Variable expenses		5.00
		$95.00
Fixed and non-controllable expenses		5.00
		$100.00

It is now necessary to analyze the Canadian purchases to see where the basic materials are purchased and at what price these materials could be purchased for in any other country, choosing for this purpose the country which would quote the lowest figure and use that price (without duties added) as a basis for seeing how far these domestic prices have to be reduced so as to enable the exporter to meet world prices. At this point we will assume that the price of the Canadian purchases should be twenty-five dollars for export. This leaves the suppliers faced with a direct loss of ten dollars at first glance. Further analysis, however, would reveal that about six dollars and fifty cents of this amount could be recovered through duty drawbacks. This would leave only three dollars and fifty cents of a direct loss to be faced which is equivalent to a ten per cent. price reduction for export business. As this is new business, something over and above his usual anticipated volume, invariably the supplier can absorb this ten per cent. cut and still make an economic profit for his company.

The export costs are now beginning to take form, for on applying the above principle we now find the following results:

		Domestic Cost	Less 1% of Duties	Rebates from Suppliers	Export Cost
Duties paid on directly imported materials		$12.25	$0.12		$ 0.12
Directly imported materials		35.00			35.00
Duties paid on materials included in domestic purchases		6.50	.07		.07
Canadian purchases less duties		27.70		$3.50	25.20
3% Excise Taxes (a) on direct imports	$1.42	2.22	.02		.02
(b) on indirect imports	.80	2.22	.02		.02
Total material cost		83.67			60.41
Freight on materials		1.33			1.33
Direct labor		5.00			5.00
Variable Expenses		5.00			5.00
Fixed Charges and Non-controllable Expenses		5.00			....
		$100.00			$71.74

The above illustration, therefore, shows that whereas the basis for establishing domestic selling prices is $100.00, the basis for establishing export selling prices is 28 per cent. lower. Having established these facts, it is then necessary to study the export markets, see what the other countries are charging for the commodity which it is desired to export—then if the competitive prices are such as to allow of an export selling price being set in excess of the "basis for establishing export selling prices" then it is profitable to go after the business for it will surely result in adding to the strength of your company by increased profits.

In dealing with the subject of exports, the Imperial Economic Conference brought about a closer union of the various members of the Empire through increased preferences. This condition brought very much to the fore the question of Empire content, for it was felt, and rightly too, that it was not desirable to have any one member of the Empire receive the advantages of these preferences if the amount of Empire content was negligible.

Some of the Empire countries have a very severe standard and it is not always known just how to go about the business of preparing figures which will satisfy the officials of the country to which the goods are being exported and also to satisfy the exporter. You must be very sure of your position before shipments are made. The standard that is usually accepted is this:—Take domestic costs (do not include external packing), get from each one of the suppliers a certificate showing the duty paid and the value of the imported materials in his product, analyze your own costs and put imported materials of foreign origin on one side, including under this heading the summary obtained from the suppliers. Then make another column for domestic or Empire content. In this include (a) the residue from the domestic purchases after deducting the imported foreign materials, duties and excise taxes; (b) freight on productive material but only a proper proportion—as the freight on foreign goods will be considered under the import column; (c) productive labor; (d) factory overhead.

Referring back to the illustration given of a cost to be used as a basis for establishing export prices and applying the principles as outlined in the preceding paragraph, the Empire content of this hypothetical illustration would work out as follows:

	Taxes	Duty	Foreign Imported	Domestic	Total
Direct importations (foreign)	1.42	12.25	35.00		48.67
Indirect importations	80	6.50	20.00	7.70	35.00
Freight			1.17	.16	1.33
Direct labor				5.00	5.00
Overhead				10.00	10.00
	2.22	18.75	56.17	22.86	100.00

Summary—

		Percentage
Imported Content	$56.17	71
Canadian Content	22.87	29
	$79.03	100

This illustration shows that if 25% Empire content were required, the conditions could be met, but if 50% was the standard, then the requirements could not be met. This example has been worked to show the principle followed in figuring Empire qualifications. Strictly speaking each country has its own regulations and administers them independently. In some cases the "exchange" paid on imported materials has been considered as an imported cost item and has therefore made the matter of qualifying more difficult.

A firm going into the export markets would do well to consider some of the points discussed. A very valuable aid in establishing export markets is the service rendered by the Commercial Intelligence Department, a department operated by the Dominion Government. This department is constantly in touch with the Canadian trade commissioners who are situated all over the world. It also keeps a thoroughly up-to-date record of all foreign and Empire tariffs. In addition to this government department the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, with its head office in Toronto, can prove of invaluable assistance in the study and developments of export trade.

Export trade properly developed is wealth. We all need the wealth—so the development of export markets should be the aim of all.

Five Methods of Doing Export Business

On the following pages will be found articles by experienced Canadian exporters who have proved by results obtained that their methods are correct.

These articles do not include all known methods, but they do cover the majority of recognized methods that so far have proved successful in Canada. Many firms operate combinations of these methods, depending on the types of markets to which they are selling. Each method should be considered in the light of the characteristics of one's own business and of the possible proportions to which the export side of it may grow.

The five methods range from the comparatively simple task of handling a highly specialized line by mail and the co-operation of Trade Commissioners to the handling of a very wide range of articles all used in the same trade by means of the establishment of wholesale branches of the Canadian house abroad.

Each method has its dangers and difficulties as well as advantages, and each is specially suited to certain general classes of business or types of distribution in export markets. No matter what method is adopted there is little doubt that a personal investigation of overseas markets by a principal or chief executive of the Canadian firm is the best preliminary in the development of successful export business. The initial costs of an investigation of this type may seem high at the time, but in most cases expenditures of this kind have proved to be a successful investment.

METHOD NO. 1

Development of an Export Trade Through Branches in Other Countries, Owned by the Parent Exporting Manufacturer in Canada

(Suitable for companies with a diversified product, most or all of which can find extensive export markets subjected to world-wide competition.)

The manufacturer who is endeavouring to build up an export trade to provide an increased and permanent outlet for his products and not simply looking for a channel through which to dispose of some surplus stock provided for domestic trade or to take up some plant capacity temporarily available should consider carefully the advisability of doing so through his own branches abroad, provided, of course, that his line is of a nature to warrant this consideration.

In contemplating the organization of a branch in a foreign country a great many conditions require to be taken into consideration. The territory should therefore be carefully surveyed to ascertain not only the present demand for his product but the possibility of increase in this demand for the future and how this increase is to come about. The state of the local industry and the competition therefrom, as well as competition from other sources requires to be looked into; also the possibility of securing a sufficient number of dealers of a satisfactory type to handle the lines; the general financial standing of these dealers and their attitude toward meeting obligations when due. Study should also be made of local preferences and prejudices, as it is surprising the influence these have in some parts of the world. Customs Tariffs and the possibility of revisions thereto; location for branch headquarters at a point where there are ample facilities at reasonable cost for the reception and storage of bulk stocks, as well as convenient and adequate transportation service for distribution, also require to be looked into. These, and a number of other matters which will suggest themselves, should be carefully investigated in order to give the question intelligent consideration and arrive at a decision.

If, after investigation, the manufacturer is satisfied that a sufficient demand for his product exists in a certain country and is also satisfied that conditions generally would warrant consideration being given to the establishing of a branch selling organization there, then the advantages and disadvantages of the branch system will require to be carefully weighed.

Marketing through a branch selling organization presents several advantages:

1.—The entire effort of the selling organization is concentrated on the one line and there are therefore no diverting interests as is frequently the case where a jobbing house handles a large range of goods. The manufacturer's products under the branch system cannot at any time be treated as a side line to be ignored when goods returning a greater margin of profit can be sold. Travellers and salesmen are not tempted to follow the line of least resistance as is possible where they have optional lines to offer to a dealer.

2.—If a line is one requiring service of any kind, the manufacturer can ensure his own and his customers' interests being properly cared for by providing a service staff having a thorough and expert knowledge of his goods, and it is recognized that an efficient service, where required, brings increased trade.

3.—A branch selling organization enables a manufacturer to keep more closely in touch with the requirements of the market and therefore be in a position to meet, or even anticipate, changing demands on the part of the purchasing public.

4.—In operating through a branch selling organization, the manufacturer can plan and carry on an advertising and selling campaign best suited to the sale of his lines and is free to take such action as he may consider necessary to meet any unusual conditions which may arise from time to time without having to depend upon or to consider first the interests of the importing jobber.

5.—From the standpoint of financial risk, instead of having one or two large accounts, the manufacturer will have a number of smaller accounts scattered throughout the country. In the opinion of many, a number of smaller accounts is an advantage as, after all, there is something to be said in favour of not putting the eggs all in one basket.

6.—It is reasonable to expect that the expense involved in the operating of a branch selling organization could be met by the additional margin obtained through selling direct to the dealers instead of to a large importing jobber. Even if the Branch could not do better than break even on its operations, the manufacturer would still have the advantage of his manufacturing profit on a larger volume.

7.—An esprit de corps can be developed which is a valuable asset in any selling organization.

There are, of course, some disadvantages, for instance:

1.—During a seasonal slackness or a period of temporary depression, when the demand for the manufacturer's particular product may drop off, the selling organization is handicapped through not having other lines with which to fill in.

2.—The necessity of carrying stocks which, in dealing with a large importing jobber, would very likely have been sold outright. This carrying of stocks also involves the making of provision against obsolescence.

3.—The handling and following up of numerous smaller accounts.

4.—A somewhat increased overhead at headquarters because of the necessity for executive supervision.

There are no doubt other disadvantages, some more applicable to one line than to another; however, the advantages of operating through a branch selling organization would appear to much more than offset the disadvantages, assuming, of course, that the manufacturer's line is sufficiently large and varied, the demand sufficient, and conditions generally favourable to operating in this way.

Except for the Chief Executive and perhaps one or two key men, an overseas branch should be staffed by men who speak the language of the country and who have an intimate knowledge of the country, its requirements, the people and their customs. The Branch Manager, or Chief Executive, should be one who is thoroughly familiar with the Company's products and policies and one who possesses good sound judgment. Located as he usually is, thousands of miles away from headquarters, he is frequently called upon to deal with important problems requiring prompt attention which cannot be conveniently or adequately discussed with his Head Office by telegraph or even by telephone, which is now available.

Several Canadian companies are already operating through branch houses abroad. No doubt any of them would be willing to assist other manufacturers contemplating operating in the same way by supplying whatever information they may have available.

METHOD NO. 2

Development of Export Trade Through Resident Agents or Representatives Visited at Intervals by Executive of Canadian Exporting Manufacturer.

(An excellent method that has worked out successfully in many lines as it provides for gradual growth and expansion, coupled with establishment of close personal relations with representatives and informing travel by export executive and an interchange of visits to the plant by representatives. This should be read in close conjunction with Method No. 3, with which it is closely allied.)

From a sales standpoint there are many advantages in having a resident agent, particularly if it is possible to have him visit the plant, get thoroughly acquainted with the product by closely following up through all stages of manufacture, meet the personnel of the Company, familiarise himself with the method of packing and general handling of export shipments.

A few of these advantages are as follows:

(1) A resident agent can approach customers with more confidence in the product as he is able to converse freely in the language of the country. From personal experience in the Far East and Continent of Europe, have found in many cases difficulty in getting anywhere on account of not being able to speak the language.

(2) A resident agent can keep principals posted on competitive lines and demands for necessary improvements to meet market conditions.

(3) Is in the position to revise and add to mailing lists of already established and prospective customers.

(4) Being in close touch with the financial standing of customers is able to take action on principal's behalf in the event of collection difficulties. In this connection might mention we give our resident agents authority to act on our behalf. If draft is refused, instead of costly cables and delays, it is immediately referred to the resident agent for further instructions.

(5) Is able to transfer shipments in event of disputes. In one or two cases, after shipment had left Canada, it was necessary to hold up on account of credit, which was taken care of by cable and turned over to resident agent for disposal elsewhere.

(6) Is in the position to investigate orders or enquiries which may be received by principals direct.

The advantages of visiting resident agents, as the writer sees them, are many; preferably the President, Vice-President,' General Manager, or Sales Manager, as in most cases it is best to make a decision on the spot so to speak. Naturally it is better that this executive should be in close touch with the Export Department.

Visits of this kind bring the line up to date, establish confidence between agents and principals, in addition to getting first hand information as to the class of house from which orders are being received.

Might I repeat again it is very desirable if possible, to have the agent visit the factory. The executive can very often obtain information regarding the sale of competitive lines which the agent does not always seem able to obtain. Manufacturing information can very often be picked up. A general size-up of the agent's ability and his connections can be intelligently made. How often have we sized up a man by correspondence and on making his acquaintance found a totally different person than we had pictured.

In some cases the resident agent is the most economical way of conducting export business, providing, of course, you have a real live agent. There is not any definite rule that I know of to select agents or representatives. I recall one time in Australia, of interviewing a resident agent who was not interested, but later on was approached by the same firm's branch in another city, by one of their Directors who saw possibilities in our line. The firm in question turned out to be live representatives.

There seems to be some element of luck in selecting agents or representatives. In order to avoid liability it might be better to classify as resident representatives not resident agents.

METHOD NO. 3

Development of Export Trade Through Resident Agents Abroad With No Personal Visits by a Representative of the Canadian Exporting Manufacturer.

(A very large number of Canadian manufacturers use this method, gradually moving towards Method No. 2, which supplements and strengthens it.)

The policy of appointing a resident Agent abroad without any personal supervision from a representative is one which is attended with many risks and much dissatisfaction unless preceded beforehand by a very careful investigation into.

(1) The standing of the individual or Company in the business community.
(2) His or their financial responsibility.
(3) Integrity.
(4) Business capabilities.
(5) Number and kind of other lines carried.

Too often the manufacturer looking for export business will accept the first application received for an agency arrangement, without making the ordinary investigations which would be made upon receipt of a similar application on the domestic market. Even at the present time applications are constantly being received by exporters from many bright and well-intentioned people who, after seeing or hearing of a new line, think they can sell it against old and established importing agencies who have probably controlled their market on this line for a great many years and who if approached by some obscure individual with a competitive line would give it scant consideration. It is, therefore, vitally necessary that the business standing of an individual or company should be known, in order for your product to receive fair and impartial consideration.

This will also protect the intending exporter from the unscrupulous type of individual who sends in his application under an assumed company name, on very elaborately got up business note paper, with the intention of obtaining a good set of samples for nothing.

What emphasis should be placed on financial responsibility will depend entirely on whether the agent is going to act on a purely commission basis, merely soliciting orders and passing them on to the manufacturer for shipping and financing, or to buy direct himself and in turn resell to the trade.

The integrity of an agent should be unquestionable, because any suspicion of sharp practices would immediately reflect on the company appointing the agent, and result in a definite restriction and loss of trade.

The business capability of the proposed agent should also be scrutinized; there should be a reputation for being thoroughly acquainted with all lines carried, ability to promote sales, judicious in the selection of customers and the granting of credit risks. Much profitable export business can easily be turned into serious and heavy losses unless the latter requirement is carefully followed.

Then it is very essential to know the number and kind of other lines carried, to ascertain if they are in any way complementary or competitive. It may be that the applicant is already carrying too many lines and it has been found in practice that there is a tendency to push only those lines easy to sell, or giving the greatest remuneration. Even if the agent is thoroughly reliable, it is difficult to become thoroughly acquainted with every item carried, with the result that the added new lines may suffer in comparison with the older ones. Often an agent will undertake to carry a competitive line just to prevent some other agent more favourably placed from obtaining it, sending in just sufficient orders to create the impression that an effort is being made to place the line on the market, but at the same time actually throttling its development.

There is no difficulty in obtaining resident agents overseas as an advertisement in any export Journal will bring a host of applicants, the majority of whom will guarantee to handle the line offered in the most efficient manner. The problem to solve is to be able to pick out from the replies received the one who will handle your line most successfully.

A much safer way is to entrust your agent problem to the Canadian Trade Commissioners, seeking their advice after giving them full information about your product.

It is not to be suggested that the right person or company will always be selected and in order to guard against errors of judgment and to protect them as far as possible, it would be advisable to limit the contract of any new agent appointed to one or two years, during which time you will have ample opportunity to check up and study the results obtained. If not satisfactory, the contract can then be broken off at the end of the stipulated period.

From the above it is very obvious that only the best type of individual or company should be chosen as your representative and the success or failure to open up an export market will depend very materially upon this.

The decision to appoint an individual or a company will depend to a great extent on the nature of the commodity to be exported, the distribution desired, and the extent of the market. In some countries it may be advisable to confine your agency to a large company who are in touch with all wholesale outlets, and while this may restrict the distribution, it has this compensation that credit risk is practically reduced to a minimum, and in some cases goods are paid for immediately upon receipt at the usual cash terms. Should it be the policy of the exporter to place his goods through as many outlets as possible, then the individual agent provides the best possible medium because he buys nothing for himself but simply solicits orders for the manufacturer and the greatest advantage lies in the ability of such a man to get business for his principals, from all possible buyers in his field. Another added advantage is that being constantly on the ground, he is able to take immediate advantage of every opportunity the moment it arises, and to adjust troubles and complaints that are almost certain to arise in the conduct of any business, whether it is foreign or domestic. Furthermore, there is bound to arise the question of extended and disputed drafts and he can safeguard payments and collections for his principals.

The agent's duties are not confined only to the securing of orders and some of his time will have to be spent in adjusting difficulties as they arise, also explaining away injudicious letters from the home office, for oftentimes a good connection is lost through a lack of tact and courtesy on the part of the sender.

The chief disadvantage in appointing an agent without personal supervision lies in the almost impossibility of making him or them acquainted with changes in business policy by means of a letter, no matter how well constructed it may be. It is then that close personal contact can explain away in a few minutes any misgivings held, what otherwise may take several letters spread over a considerable period. When export business is being operated at little or no profit it is difficult to explain by letter why an advertising allowance cannot be made or unreasonable claims accepted.

In summing up, it can safely be said that satisfactory business can be obtained by this method, although of course it will always lack that undefinable something which always comes with personal contact.

METHOD NO. 4

The Development of Export Trade Through Export Merchants, Export Buying Houses or Indent Houses.

(This method or really two methods in one, with many similar characteristics, offers a wide field for certain varieties of products but if used solely should be chosen with the utmost discretion. The Indent House Method can fit in by consent with Methods two and three and can be attempted simultaneously.

Co-operation with reliable indent houses in suitable cases provides a means of training members of manufacturers' staffs in export technique and provides specialized selling and personal contacts in export markets while retaining the identity of manufacturers goods through to the customer.

In the "Export Merchants" discussion prospective exporters would do well to ponder seriously over the disadvantages mentioned.)

There are many manufacturers in Great Britain who have been able to secure a splendid volume of business overseas without ever having had even an export department of their own. They have secured this business through London houses operating as Export Merchants or through London Indent firms.

EXPORT MERCHANTS operate really as Export Wholesale Houses. They make an arrangement with a Manufacturer by which they will have the control of anything he makes that may be shipped overseas. If the Manufacturer receives an enquiry from abroad, he refers it to this Export Merchant. The Merchant buys for cash from the Manufacturer and turns around and quotes the merchandise to firms overseas at a price that will give him a profit. He takes all the credit responsibility and even arranges for proper distribution in any market where there would seem to be a demand for this particular product. He has Representatives who travel to different countries in the world and in this way keeps in touch with his connections abroad.

There are many advantages to the Manufacturer from handling his export business in this manner:

1. It costs him nothing to sell his goods. He may at times find it necessary to supply something in the way of samples but this is likely to be a small matter and if it really amounts to something, he can usually arrange to supply the samples at regular prices, less a sample discount.

2. He sells for cash and has no credit risk. Manufacturers are often concerned and rightly so, about the credit standing of firms overseas who may wish to buy their goods. Selling to the Export Merchant, he gets his money even sooner than for domestic sales.

3. He avoids the necessity of having an export department in his business. The Export Merchant looks after all details of shipping, insurance and invoicing and all the Manufacturer has to do is to ship his goods to Seaboard as directed and submit ordinary domestic invoices. The overseas correspondence is conducted by the Export Merchant, who is competent to look after this even if it be in a foreign language.

4. He increases the volume of business passing through his plant and in this way lowers his unit cost of production. This enables him to compete more successfully in his own market.

The disadvantages of this method are not great. There are one or two features that should be considered:

1. He will probably not know his customers overseas and if for any reason, the Export Merchant breaks his connection, he may lose his overseas business. However, the Export Merchant is not likely to do this so long as he gets good treatment from the Manufacturer. It costs money to develop a market and no one wishes to have to do it with a new product if he already has one established.

2. He will need to make sure that the Export Merchant has a distinct possibility to get business for it has been known to happen that representation of a line has been gotten to keep it off the market. For that reason, it should only be given for an initial period of not too long so that if business does not result, he can take other means to get it.

INDENT FIRMS are really Buying Houses or Purchasing Houses in one country for firms located in other countries overseas. Many overseas firms prefer to have all their business attended to by their own buying offices located in centres of countries where manufacturing industries are plentiful. Such firms as these are often a good means of getting manufactured goods introduced to their overseas clients.

1. They usually buy for first class firms only.

2. They pay cash for all purchases.

3. They attend to all details of shipping, insurance, invoicing and correspondence.

On the other hand:

1. They take no responsibility for sales at all but simply place orders on definite instructions received from their clients.

2. They buy only for their own clients and it may be possible there are other firms in overseas countries who might be interested in the goods. The indent houses will not offer the goods for sale to other than their own clients. Their distribution therefore is limited unless a Manufacturer is dealing with a number of Indent Houses operating in the same overseas markets.

The number of Export Merchants and Indent Firms in Canada has been limited, due probably to the fact that it is only comparatively recently that Canadian Manufactured goods have been shipped in volume and variety to overseas markets. It is only reasonable to expect that their numbers will increase and in this way, there will be offered to Canadian Manufacturers a method of securing export business that is sound, economical and safe.

METHOD NO. 5

Development of Export Trade Direct by Mail.

(This method though useful for highly specialized products marketed to well-rated and substantial customers is fraught with many dangers unless subjected to the closest analysis. It is true it grows gradually to the point of becoming exactly like Method No. 3, but the initial stages of attempting to do business direct by mail, without previous intense and discriminating selection of risks, are full of pitfalls and form a pretext for the propagation of many useless schemes.)

Many Canadian industries, organized primarily to supply their domestic market, do not have the large organization nor the facilities necessary to maintain branches or even direct agents handling only their products in foreign markets.

In these days of specialization, the products of many plants must sometimes be sold in the export markets by commission agents handling kindred lines in order to spread the selling expense over sufficient volume to make export sales profitable. In fact, modern practice has resulted in many plants making only one particular line of goods often of interest only to some one trade or profession. Often this means a field so restricted it does not pay the producer to seek export business through ordinary channels. However, such specialized lines usually have the advantage of being of special interest and usefulness to certain definitely known trades or professions. Lists of prospects for such lines can be obtained and trade solicited in foreign, almost as easily as in the domestic market. It is possible in this way to eliminate expensive selling costs and create a demand for such goods as will permit some responsible agent to stock or supply them profitably.

Of course, wherever this is practical, a selling agent right on the ground is always much better and more satisfactory. A good agent can create connections not obtainable by mail and can always learn why prospects are not interested or correct any misunderstanding which no amount of correspondence might bring out. It is no different in foreign markets than at home. Every purchaser takes the easiest way and will usually pay more to be relieved of all details of which he knows little or nothing.

The local agent has special advantages over direct-by-mail solicitation in countries using other than the English language. A good agent will speak fluently the one or more languages used and can usually translate special instructions into English for the manufacturer, thus overcoming many chances of misinterpretation.

Even if carefully written and checked over, transcriptions from English to other languages are sometimes misleading. Often the correct version does not convey the idea or thought as well as if the letter were written in the dialect peculiar to the country in which the prospect resides.

Particularly in financial matters, the agent can secure reports, approach only good accounts and help with collections when necessary.

But in spite of all these drawbacks it is possible to do a good and profitable export business direct by mail with lines which could in no other way be exported to advantage. Goods of exceptional interest and usefulness to some definitely known trade or profession—possibly not ordinarily obtainable except on special order or which must be delivered in fresh condition. Especially such goods as can be sent by Parcel Post.

The first step is to secure an agent to handle deliveries and lists of interested users. This can usually be done with the aid of the Canadian Trade Commissioner in the market to be tried.

The Commissioner should be given full particulars of the product—samples where possible—and suggestions as to the class of trade likely to be interested. He will suggest an agent and the best source for obtaining lists of prospects. Usually he can secure good lists for the exporter. As an official Canadian representative, the Trade Commissioner often has access to records and information not ordinarily obtainable. In fact, he can usually give better advice and suggestions about the market he represents than could be obtained by months of direct investigation. It is his duty to assist in the sale of any Canadian product in his market. No better corps of expert salesmen could be had at any price than is available to every Canadian exporter.

Having arranged for handling deliveries and secured a list of prospects, a carefully prepared campaign for that particular market should be worked out. Letters should always be in the language of that market. When other than English, such letters should be very carefully translated. If time permits, it is always best to submit the suggested series of letters to the Trade Commissioner for O.K. Translations are often much clearer and get better results if in the particular style or dialect in use in the prospect's country.

Full and complete description—good illustrations, showing the goods and their uses—are essential to best results. Even if it does not pay to translate catalogues or circulars, sufficient explanation should be given in the letters to make their advantages and uses clear to the prospect.

Arrangements with the agent should be made to either stock or obtain goods promptly a demand has been created so as not to lose the benefit of direct solicitation. With the help of the Trade Commissioner, a good agent should be arranged for who will supply the demand. With reasonable prospects the agent can be induced to purchase some stock or if sent on consignment to guarantee payment as the goods are sold. Once the agent is convinced there is a profitable demand he will undertake selling on his own account.

There is no doubt that many Canadian products could be exported in this way if reasonable time and care were given all the necessary details. Export markets are particularly desirable to most Canadian manufacturers to permit increased volume production—not always possible in a comparatively restricted home market. Even if such exports are sold close to actual costs, they are a great advantage in absorbing overhead costs and creating steady employment of sometimes highly trained staffs.

One thing should be kept in mind always—for the good of all Canadian exporters. Once foreign trade has been solicited, be prepared to make prompt deliveries of thoroughly dependable goods offering good value. A manufacturer who solicits foreign business only while his trade is slack in Canada and fails to give good service on foreign business during rush times in domestic trade is creating a very bad opinion in foreign markets, not only of his own concern but on all his fellow exporters as well.

Let every Canadian exporter maintain the good reputation created by our Trade Commissioners and by our most successful exporters by good service, reliable goods and fair dealing.

Financing Export Trade

To any manufacturer who realizes the difficulties of producing an article which fills the requirements of foreign markets, and of securing satisfactory customers for that article against the competition of the other manufacturing countries of the world, the importance given to the subsequent details of the business may seem, at times, a little exaggerated. It is undoubtedly true, however, that close attention to those details of export business which follow the consummation of a sale, are of the greatest importance. The foreign customer not only wants standard quality goods at a competitive price, but also wants those goods delivered to him within contract time, packed in a proper way and accompanied by all the necessary documents properly made out to the last detail; and if the customer does not get what he wants along these lines, he will take his business elsewhere. Documents which do not arrive as soon as the goods, or a missing consular vise or consular invoice, will cause delays and perhaps fines. A description of the goods which may appear entirely reasonable at this end, may not be at all what is required to secure the proper tariff interpretation in the consignee's country. Such incidents are so vexatious to importers that no firm can expect to secure or retain customers unless close attention is paid to the requirements of their market along these lines. For a firm whose personnel does not know these requirements by experience, it is not always a simple matter to obtain the necessary information. In the present article, an endeavor is made to indicate the assistance which banks can render in this connection, as well as banking requirements in relation to the handling and financing of foreign shipments.

Extension of Credit by Exporters

Credit is an element in most business transactions. It can be understood that it is even more necessary in foreign than in domestic trade, since more time is usually taken up by the movement of goods between seller and buyer when these two are located in different countries, and Custom House delays are often a factor. The seller who receives a request for the extension of credit in connection with a sale has three things to consider:—(1) The financial standing of his customer; (2) the custom of the foreign market in regard to credit terms on the particular commodity being dealt in and (3) his own ability to finance the business.

The seller's bank can obtain for him a report on the prospective customer's resources and the custom of the market in regard to extension of credit. It should be pointed out here, however, that to obtain complete information by cable is usually a very expensive process, so that every effort should be made to anticipate the need for it before the matter becomes urgent. Again, the quality of the information varies. In countries where Canadian bank branches are located, it is often more complete than when received from correspondents. Sometimes, however, accurate detailed information is impossible to obtain. The banker will always do his best to advise the customer whether, in his opinion, the credit risk is reasonable, but obviously there are cases hard to decide, where the seller's judgment must be the deciding factor. Referring now to the third point mentioned above, the ability of the seller to finance the business, it is obvious that he does not want to tie up his capital in goods in transit, or in 90 days' paper awaiting payment, if he can avoid doing so. He may not be able to avoid doing it in all cases, and a certain proportion of exporters' drafts, therefore, go forward on a collection basis. For the rest, all good exporting houses have arrangements with their banks, whereby they can discount sight or time drafts on good names abroad. The willingness of the bank to enter into such an arrangement naturally depends on the financial standing of their customer, and the amount of credit involved.

Bank Discounts

The negotiation of clean bills is tantamount to making an unsecured loan to the drawers, with the added security of the drawee's name after acceptance.

In discounting both documentary and clean bills, the bank's main security, in the first instance, lies in the responsibility of the drawer. In the case of any trouble with the drawee, the bank is in a weak position unless its power of recourse to the maker is reasonably certain to be productive of satisfactory results. Drawers, therefore, must have a capital adequate to bear the loss which may easily arise from an unfortunate export transaction. The extra risk contained in export business does not lie in the greater lack of probity of foreign houses, but in the room which exists for errors and misunderstandings on account of the distances separating buyer and seller, and the difficulty and expense of conducting a long distance legal action. Misunderstandings are specially liable to arise in the case of transactions effected by correspondence. Litigation is often a lengthy and expensive process; in many cases the results are not worth the outlay.

The risk which underlies the discounting of documentary foreign drafts is not always clearly understood and it is not an uncommon thing for a firm which has been unable to finance an export shipment to criticize its bankers for their refusal to discount drafts covering the merchandise. This firm has probably been told, quite truly, that exporting involves the granting of credit. It now gets a profitable and relatively large order from a foreign house on whom good reports have been received. The terms may be sight, thirty or sixty days—quite moderate credit—yet the bank may be unwilling to discount the seller's documentary drafts. The Canadian firm cannot understand the refusal since, in its opinion, the bank is fully covered by the merchandise until acceptance, and, in the case of sight drafts, until payment. The answer is this: that this security of merchandise is often more apparent than real: that many causes for refusal of delivery may crop up, and the goods may then be a thousand miles from a good market, and unsaleable except at a sacrifice. The principal backing is then the capital of the drawer. Where this warrants the extension of the credit involved, the draft will be discounted. Firms of the class that we have referred to were probably of moderate capital, though of good standing. Their domestic business used up their resources to the hilt; and an unsuccessful excursion into the export field for other than a moderate amount might have brought them into a bad position and left a slow loan on the hands of the bank which thought it was discounting a self-liquidating bill.

Currency of Bills

The currency in which a draft is drawn depends on the arrangements made by seller and buyer at the time the sale is effected; and these arrangements will vary according to the country in which the one and the other are located. The object of the drawer of a draft is to secure a certain and definite return from it. He can best do this by drawing in terms of his own money, thus shifting the risk of loss from exchange fluctuations on to the shoulders of the drawee; or, if the drawer's currency is not quoted and dealt in to any great extent in the country of the drawee, the former can make his drafts payable in some stable and well-known currency. Sterling was, par excellence, the money of international trade prior to the war, since it was quoted and dealt in all the world over, and a sterling remittance always could be turned into gold on the London market.

At one time Canadian exporters made great use of United States dollars as a basis for submitting prices to foreign buyers, and as the currency in which their drafts were made payable. The practice is not so much in vogue at the present time. There is only one sound reason for dealing in this way, viz., the fact that in some countries quotations for Canadian dollars are not received as frequently as those for United States exchange. At such points the importer who goes to the bank to take up a draft is liable to get a more accurate and favourable rate if the draft is payable in United States dollars than if settlement is called for in Canadian dollars. The fact that Canadian quotations are not received as frequently as United States quotations, cannot always be avoided. Unless Canada is regularly doing a good volume of business with the country concerned, it does not pay the banks at that point to go to the expense of receiving frequent exchange quotations by cable.

It is not always possible to draw in the currency of the seller's country, since some importers prefer to make payment in their own money. If this money is not exchangeable for gold, and is subject to violent fluctuations in its exchange relations with the currencies of other countries, an importer will find it difficult to make purchases on this basis. If, however, the money of his country is moderately stable, competition may tend to force exporters to draw as the importer desires.

Before the war, drafts on Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the British colonies using sterling currency were drawn in sterling, and the same is largely true today, although for exports to these points from the United States, dollars may be used, or dollar Letters of Credit established. Drafts on the countries of South and Central America are rarely, if ever, phrased in terms of the local currency of these countries, and sterling and dollar drafts predominate. The same is true as regards the Orient.

Drafts on the main European countries were in many cases drawn in francs, marks, crowns, pesetas or whatever the currency might be; today this is not so, except in so far as some of the countries which have returned to the gold standard are concerned. Thus, a substantial international business is done in Dutch guilders, and Swiss francs and Swedish crowns are also used. So far, it is not usual for drafts on Germany to be phrased in terms of the new German mark. In all cases, however, our remarks on the wide use of sterling and dollars are more or less applicable.

Exchange Clauses

The fact that a bill is not payable in the currency of the drawee's country at once gives rise to the question of how the conversion rate between the two currencies shall be established. If this were considered a matter for arrangement between the collecting bank and the drawee, it is not difficult to imagine the complications which might arise. Would a bill for $1,000 United States currency drawn on a firm in Buenos Aires, Argentina, be settled for by the drawee paying to the bank an amount of local paper currency which, at par, would equal $1,000 U.S. or would the drawee perhaps consider settlement made by the tender of a sight draft on New York for the face amount of the bill—a settlement which would involve a loss to the drawer, if he had expected to be paid by cable? All these and other possible points of issue, are settled by the addition of a clause to the draft indicating the basis on which settlement shall be effected. The usual clauses for dollar and sterling drafts on foreign countries read respectively as follows:—

Dollar Drafts on Foreign Countries

Payable at the bank's selling rate on day of payment for sight drafts on ....
(Canadian dollars—Montreal, U.S. dollars—New York).

Sterling Drafts on Foreign Countries

Payable at the bank's selling rate on day of payment for sight drafts on London.

Drafts drawn at ninety days' sight on South American points are not uncommon. In the case of such drafts, the drawer will have to realize that he is to lose interest, not only during the transit period of the draft and return remittance, but also during the time occupied by the draft in arriving at maturity. Thus he will have to include in his quotation interest at the prevailing rate made up as follows:—

Transit to and from Argentina and delays	45 days
Elapsed time to maturity date of draft	90 days
	135 days

Some drawees are slow about accepting drafts. Therefore, only experience can show exactly what loss of time should be allowed for in such transactions.

It is advisable to include bank commission and other charges in the face amount, if the drawer expects to recover the amount of his invoice in full without deduction.

There are special customs in connection with the collection or negotiation through London of bills drawn on Australia, New Zealand, Africa and the Orient; the details are somewhat too long to be included in an article of this nature, but they may be found in the booklet "Financing Foreign Trade", published by the Royal Bank of Canada.

Instructions to Banks

Exporters, when placing bills with a bank, either for discount or for collection, should be careful to give the bank full instructions in regard to the handling of the drafts in question. Instructions as to whether documents should be surrendered against payment or against acceptance, are so obvious that it is only by some clerical error that they are ever omitted, but there are numerous other points which are frequently not covered when bills are placed with a bank:—the omission sometimes leads to unnecessary trouble and expense. Example of what such instructions may consist of is given below:

Protest for Non-Payment
Non-Acceptance
Permit Drawee to inspect merchandise before accepting draft.
Hold for arrival of goods.
Payable at collecting bank's selling rate for Sight
Cables Drafts on……………………………on date of payment.
Payable at selling rate for cheques on………………………………………………Remit proceeds by cable at our expense.
Collect interest at ………………………% from date of draft until approximate date of arrival of cover in……… ………………………………………………… .
Allow Drawee interest at ……………………………… % per annum for anticipated payment.
All charges are for account Ourselves
Drawee.
Waive charges if refused by Drawee.
Advise Acceptance
Payment by Cable.
In case of need refer to…………………………………… and advise immediately. Mail
Cable

Letters of Credit

A considerable volume of international business is financed by means of bankers' credits. When exporters can manage to have customers open such credits, this is obviously a very desirable way of doing business, because risk of loss and any trouble regarding financing are eliminated. While buyers have to pay the bank at their end a moderate commission for this facility, the extra expense is often compensated for by the more favorable quotations they can secure from sellers if payment is effected in this manner.

When Canadian exporting firms have credits opened in their favour, it will pay them to discuss with their bankers the sense and terms of these documents, if they are in any doubt regarding the provisions embodied therein, or the protection afforded. For example, the credit may be issued by a foreign bank, with whose standing they are not familiar. The Canadian bank can advise them whether the foreign bank in question is entirely responsible. Again, the credit may have a revocable provision which needs to be carefully considered. It is not possible to discuss here the varied aspects of this class of banking document, but it may be said that great care has to be exercised by an exporter to live up meticulously to all the requirements of a credit. Some of these may seem to him absurd and unnecessary, but he must remember that the bank at this end has no authority to vary the instructions in any way, shape or form. If they require alteration, the matter should be taken up as soon as advice of the credit is received, instead of waiting until the shipment has been loaded on board steamer and the documents brought to the bank.

No reference has been made in this article to shipping documents, although these are important from a banking point of view when drafts are received from clients, either for collection, or for discount or under terms of Letters of Credit. In the first case, the bank needs proper documents in order to render the client good service; in the second and third cases, it needs them for its own protection. This section of the subject is dealt with in the Royal Bank of Canada booklet which has previously been referred to, viz., "Financing Foreign Trade."

How the Canadian Manufacturers' Association Can Assist Members in their Export Activities

The Constitution of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which was organized in 1871 and incorporated by Act of Parliament in 1902 provides that "The Objects of this Association shall be to promote Canadian industries and to further the interests of Canadian manufacturers and exporters, and to render such services and assistance to the members of the Association and to manufacturers and exporters generally, as the Association may deem advisable from time to time."

The assistance which the Canadian Manufacturers' Association gives to exporters might be classified under two headings: specific and general.

The Association is in a position to render the following direct assistance.

1—Empire and Foreign Tariffs:—The Tariff Department keeps up-to-date and accurate information respecting customs tariffs, customs and consular regulations and invoicing requirements of all countries. Particular study is given to tariff preferences within the British Empire, forms of certificate of origin, and to the percentage of Canadian content required in order to qualify for such preferences. The Tariff Department also advises members respecting the export drawback allowed by the Canadian Government.

2—Commercial Reports on Overseas Firms: The Association furnishes free of charge, to members of the Association commercial reports on overseas firms with whom they may contemplate doing business.

3—Transportation and Ocean Rates: The Transportation Dept. of the Association supplies information on rail and ocean rates, steamship services, routing, shipping documents, parcel post, trade terms and definitions.

4—Enquiries from Foreign Countries: As the organization has up-to-date information in regard to Canadian manufacturers, enquiries which are received from abroad for Canadian products are placed before firms likely to be interested.

5—Each year a large number of responsible buyers and agents from abroad visit the offices of the Association, and are put in touch with Canadian manufacturers.

6—The Association co-operates very closely with the Commercial Intelligence Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce. It notifies members when Trade Commissioners are visiting Canada, arrange appointments, and advise members of the assistance which this service provides.

7—Translation Service: A translation service is at the disposal of all members of the Association. Letters in practically all languages are translated and facilities provided for translating English letters into foreign languages.

8—General Information: Information is also given in regard to coding and deciphering cables; names of consuls throughout Canada; figuring C.I.F. prices; statistics of exports; electric currents in various countries; advice on export procedure and particulars of foreign currencies.

Under general, or indirect aids we might mention:

a—Keeping members constantly advised of changes and developments in the regulations and laws of overseas countries which might affect their interests.

b—Co-operation with the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission in the organization and administration of exhibitions abroad where Canadian products are exhibited. During the last few years, the Association has assisted in the organization of the New Zealand and South Seas International Exhibition at Dunedin; the British Empire Exhibitions at Wembley; the British Empire Trade Fair at Buenos Aires, and the Canadian Section of the British Industries Fair which is held each year at Olympia and Birmingham.

c—Assistance in the organizing of properly sponsored trade tours to various markets.

d—The publication of books and pamphlets relating to export methods and procedure and general publicity in regard to the development of Canadian export trade.

e—Administration of Export Clubs and arranging of the Export Courses.

f—Publication of the Canadian Trade Index which gives a classified and alphabetical list of the manufacturers in Canada and is distributed throughout 75 countries. This book is used as a basis of information by importers, agents and merchandising concerns abroad and is available in the offices of public libraries, shipping companies, banks, industrial organizations and Chambers of Commerce in overseas countries. The Index contains a special export section giving data in regard to methods of conducting export trade, foreign financing and an analysis of Canadian trade.

Explanation of List

THE list beginning on the opposite page comprises the names and addresses, alphabetically arranged, of all firms appearing in the classified section of the Canadian Trade Index. In this list we have tried to give the users of the book some information that will be useful in getting into quick touch with the makers of any desired article.

No street addresses are given in Part III (the classified article section). These are recorded where necessary to complete the address in Part II (the alphabetical list).

We have not attempted to give, in this list, any full account of the products. These will all be found under separate headings in the classified section on pages 285 and following. Only where the firm or company name does not indicate the line of goods manufactured have we mentioned some of the articles produced.

The address given is that of the main place of business in Canada, usually the head office, although it may be both factory and office address. The addresses given later, under "Factories," are those of branch factories. Where branch offices in Canada are mentioned stock is generally carried at these points.

For. Rep. or simply Rep. means foreign or other representative for export sales purposes.

The Cable addresses and codes will be found useful in initiating and transacting export business.

Guide to Classified Index

THE method of indexing the material on the succeeding pages is that by which the most important word in headings is generally placed first. The arrangement then proceeds in the proper alphabetical order. In the majority of cases it will be found that the noun or main name comes first, i.e.—Furniture, bedroom; Hardware, builders'; Leather, boot and shoe upper, etc. This allows the grouping of all similar articles close together. In other cases, where the inversion seems unnatural, the headings have been listed as they run—air appliances; fire escapes, etc. If any difficulty is experienced in locating desired headings or articles, users of the book should try both forms of listing. This will enable the heading to be found if it appears in the book at all.

In all cases we have endeavored to use the names most commonly known. It is possible that we have listed some articles and materials under names that differ from those that our subscribers use. Synonyms will therefore be useful to bear in mind.

Cross references have been supplied where two or more names are commonly used to describe the same article.

Street addresses of the firms listed in the classified section are provided where necessary in the alphabetical list of names (on blue sheets) immediately preceding the Classified Section (Part III, pages 285 to 655).

Attention is also called to the French Index of articles, which is placed immediately after the Produce Section (Part IV, pages 657 to 662). In a limited edition a Spanish Index also appears following the French Index.

Firms before whose name an asterisk appears are engaged or seriously interested in Export Trade.

Corrections and revisions of these lists are made periodically by the Commercial Intelligence Department of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

We shall be glad to have the opportunity of giving additional information to any manufacturer or user of the Canadian Trade Index. No charge is made for this service.
